BRITISHERS CHARGED IN MOSCOW

6 Vickers Employees Choose Counsel.

SOVIET TRIAL PROBABLY OPENS ON APRIL 12.

(Reuter's Special Service.)

Moscow, Yesterday. The six British engineers of Metropolitan Vickers, Messrs. Alan Monkhouse, Nordwall, W. Thornton, J. Cusby, W. H. Macdonald and C. Gregory, who are charged by the Soviet Secret Police with political and military espionage and wrecking machinery, have provisionally chosen four lawyers from the Collegium Lawyers to represent them during the trial.

The hearing, it is understood, will not begin before April 12. M. Nicholas Komodoff and M. Hyabrande, two lawyers famous for their defence of the accused in the recent "Show Trial," a notable industrial party trial, are among those chosen.

The president of the session will be M. Ulrich, who is a member of the plenum of the Supreme Court of the U.S.S.R., and the members will be Professor Martens, director of the Diesel Institute, and M. Dmitriev, director of the Thermo-projecting Trust.

The relief judge will be M. Zeltkov, chairman of the central committee of the trade union of workers, engineers and technicians of the electro-technical industry and electric power stations.

M. Vishinsky and M. Roginsky, Public Prosecutor and Assistant Public Prosecutor, respectively, will conduct the case.

COLOMBIA - PERU DISPUTE

New Hope At Geneva For Settlement.

LEAGUE RESOLUTION.

(Reuter's Special Service.)

Geneva, Yesterday. New hope has arisen for the settling of the Colombia-Peru dispute.

The League Secretariat circulated the text of a resolution adopted by the Advisory Committee of the League, yesterday, stating that it is now possible to make further efforts with the co-operation of the two parties for a speedy fulfilment of the League Council's recommendations for settlement of the dispute.

This development follows the declarations made by the representatives of Colombia and Peru to the Advisory Committee.

MECCA PILGRIMAGE PERFORMED.

Lady Evelyn Cobbold's Achievement.

(Reuter's Special Service.)

Jeddah, Yesterday. Lady Evelyn Cobbold, the first Englishwoman to perform the Mecca Pilgrimage, returned here from the Holy City to-day.

The pilgrimage received a clean bill of health. Lady Evelyn Cobbold, formerly Lady Blanche Cavendish, is the second daughter of the Duke of Devonshire and the wife of Captain J. M. Cobbold, whom she married in 1919.

CAPTAIN GOERING PREFERRED TO VON PAPPEN.

Hitler's Right-Hand Man To Be Premier of Prussia.

Berlin, Yesterday. No official announcement has yet been made, but it is certain that Captain Goering will shortly be appointed as Prussian Premier by Chancellor Hitler in his new capacity as Administrator of Prussia. It is equally certain that Vice-Chancellor Von Pappen will be given another important post in the Prussian Government.—Reuter.

FORMER TITLES TO BE RESTORED

Germany To Bestow Honours.

ABOLISHED BY WEIMAR CONSTITUTION.

(Reuter's Special Service.)

Berlin, Yesterday. The Reich Government proposes to restore the titles, orders and decorations which were abolished by the Weimar Constitution. The bestowal will be in the hands of President Von Hindenburg.

The first of such orders to be restored will be those for services on behalf of the National revolution, while another will be for services to art and science.

INDIA TO STOP DUMPING

Measure To Protect Own Industries.

ADDITIONAL DUTIES.

New Delhi, Yesterday. Sir Joseph William Bhore, member of the Governor General's Executive Council, and Commerce Member, to-day introduced into the Assembly, an anti-dumping Bill, empowering the Government to impose additional duties on articles imported at such abnormally low prices as to endanger the existence of Indian industry.

Notification of imposing the additional duties will be submitted for approval by the Legislature within two months, after which the Bill remains in force until March 31, 1935.—Reuter.

MR. GALSORTHY'S BIOGRAPHY.

Wife's Consent Must Be Obtained.

(Reuter's Special Service.)

London, Yesterday. The famous author, Mr. John Galsworthy who died from anaemia following a serious attack of influenza, on January 31, left £88,587. His will is entrusted to a literary representative with full powers to deal with his works.

He also directed that no biography is to be published without the consent of his wife, who is the principal beneficiary.

WILL SILVER PRICES BE RAISED?

DIVERGENT VIEWS IN WORLD CENTRES

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S OPPOSITION REPORTED IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, YESTERDAY. THE SILVER QUESTION IS AROUSING WORLD-WIDE CONTROVERSY. WHILE IT IS URGED IN MANCHESTER THAT INTERNATIONAL ACTION BE TAKEN TO INCREASE THE PRICE OF SILVER, PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT IS REPORTED TO BE OPPOSED TO THE SCHEMES ADVANCED BY SENATOR PITTMAN AND OTHER LEADING AMERICANS WHO ADVOCATE A WIDER USE OF SILVER.

President Roosevelt has turned definitely against currency inflation, demonstration of silver or any form of inflated money, declares a dispatch to the "New York Times" from Washington.

The dispatch adds that President Roosevelt will seek instead to reflate commodity values by a vast public works programme designed to revive business.

The Capitol was to-day besieged by groups of people demanding all kinds of inflation.

"Increase Value Of Silver."

PROPOSAL OF MANCHESTER COTTON SPINNERS.

(Reuter's Special Service.)

London, Yesterday. The earliest possible international action, with a view to the increasing price of silver is urged in a resolution passed by the General Committee of the Federation of Master Cotton Spinners at Manchester.

The resolution suggests that the price should be stabilised at a minimum of 2/- per ounce, and its ratio to gold gradually raised to 20 to 1.

It is thought that an increase in the value of silver is essential to the revival of export trade in the cotton industry.

PARLIAMENT DISSOLVED IN SOUTH AFRICA

Election To Take Place On May 17.

NATIONAL GOVERNMENT SEEKS ENDORSEMENT.

(Reuter's Special Service.)

Pretoria, Yesterday. The election, on the question of African Parliament was gazetted to-day.

The dissolution of the South support for the National Government, is fixed for May 17.

The Coalition agreement between General Hertzog, the Premier and General Smuts, leader of the South African Party was announced on February 23, the agreement providing for full maintenance of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

The parties agreed to have six Cabinet posts each, General Hertzog retaining the post of Prime Minister, while General Smuts took the post of Minister of Justice. The formation was the outcome of unrest in the country aggravated by the abandonment of the gold standard. General Smuts asserted that the country was tired of politics and stated that South Africa should follow the British example and form a National Government.

PARIS TO TOKYO FLIGHT

French Aviatrice Nears Hong Kong.

EXPECTED IN COLONY ON TUESDAY.

Mlle. Maryse Hilt, the French aviatrice, who arrived at Haiphong on Friday afternoon, is expected in Hong Kong on Tuesday according to a message received here yesterday.

She will stay at Haiphong for three days while her aeroplane, a 300 h.p. Farman Gnome, is being overhauled.

Mlle. Hilt, who is the holder of the world's altitude flying record for women, is attempting to set new figures for the Paris-Tokyo flight.

She left Paris on April 1, flying via Brindisi, Aleppo, Bagdad, Karachi and Calcutta.

Sydney. Miss Batten, a New Zealand pilot, has announced that she will depart by air from England on a solo flight to Australia to-morrow.—Reuter.

SPANISH AIRMAN ARRIVES

Loring Lands At Kai Tak Yesterday.

MADRID TO MANILA FLIGHT.

Senor Fernando Rein y Loring, the Spanish aviator who left Madrid on March 18 on a solo flight to Manila, arrived at Kai Tak aerodrome at 1.30 p.m., yesterday.

Senor Loring has been held up for several days at Phakek on the borders of Siam and French Indo-China, owing to the unfavourable flying weather.

Interviewed by the Sunday Herald, Senor Loring said that conditions throughout the flight until reaching Phakek had been ideal and the journey had been accomplished without incident.

Bad weather in Indo-China caused him 11 days delay, and it was not until Friday morning that he found conditions improved to make the 2½ hours trip to Hanol. He reached the latter place shortly before noon on Friday.

After a quick overhaul he decided to leave for Hong Kong yesterday morning, and took off at 7.20 a.m. making the trip to the Colony in 5½ hours, the weather being bad, with low clouds, fog and rain.

Senor Loring said that he would probably leave for the Philippines at daybreak to-morrow, but unlike last year he would not fly to Apurari, going direct to Manila instead.

Senor Loring's Comper Swift machine is engine with an 85 h.p. unit, and is capable of a cruising speed of 100 m.p.h.—(Continued on Page 16.)

R.A.F. FLIGHT TO CAPE.

Long-Distance Record Recognised.

HOP OF 5,340 MILES.

(Reuter's Special Service.)

London, Yesterday. The British long-distance flight record of 5,340 miles, established by Squadron Leader Gayford and Flight-Lieut. Nicholls on February 8, when they landed at Walvis Bay, South Africa, after a non-stop journey from Cranwell, England, has been accepted as a world's record.

A notification to this effect was to-day received by the Royal Aero Club from the International Aeronautical Federation. The flight which was accomplished in 57 hours, was made in a R.A.F. Fairey-Napier monoplane.

ATTACK BY MANCHUKUO INDEPENDENTS

Japanese Support Alleged.

STIFF RESISTANCE BY CHINESE TROOPS.

Aeroplanes Assist Attackers.

Peking, Yesterday.

Serious fighting has been progressing yesterday and to-day in the district around Chinwangtao, and reports of the fall of the city into the hands of the so-called Manchukuo Independents are being awaited with deep concern. The Chinese troops are putting up a stiff resistance but considerable anxiety as to the outcome of the battle is being felt by the city residents, for despite the Chinese claims of success it is possible that the city may shortly be captured, though not by Japanese regular troops.

The Japanese deny having any connection with the attack, but the Chinese officials allege that more than moral support is being given to the Manchukuo forces. Further Chinese reports state that Japanese aeroplanes are aiding the attackers.—Reuter.

C. E. R. ROLLING STOCK TO REMAIN

Tokyo, Yesterday.

Reports from Manchukuo state that the Manchukuo authorities to-day disconnected the Western Section of the Chinese Eastern Railway from the trans-Baikal Line for the purpose of preventing further transference of rolling stock to Soviet territory.—Reuter.

LIMITING RUBBER PRODUCTION

M. Wynand's Scheme For Control Of Output.

NOT OFFICIALLY SPONSORED.

London, Yesterday. In order to prevent misunderstanding, the International Society of Rubber Culture in the Dutch East Indies states that M. Wynand's scheme was not issued by them.

International Committee. In his scheme, M. Wynand, the prominent Amsterdam rubber broker, proposes a ten-year convention between rubber growers throughout the world, in which the extension of rubber growing is not allowed.

The plan provides for the establishment of an international committee with a Government delegate from each country, which, twice yearly, will meet to decide the figure of world consumption. The total potential world production will be based on future production till 1937, and a quota will be established for each country.—Reuter.

COLONY'S BALANCE OF $1,499,432

Revenue Exceeds Expenditure.

HONG KONG'S FINANCES
DURING 1932

A satisfactory position is revealed in the Colony's finances for 1932, revenue having exceeded expenditure by $1,499,432.77.

The actual revenue of the Hong Kong Government, for the year 1932, fell short of the estimated amount by $441,793.71, and totalled $33,549,716.29. This, however, is an increase of $402,992.56 on the revenue of $33,146,723.73 for the preceding year.

The total expenditure was $32,050,283.52, which was an increase of $889,609.52 over the expenditure of $31,160,774.00 for the preceding year. The amount expended for the year 1932 fell short of the estimated expenditure in the amount of $2,931,377.48.

The chief source of revenue "as from the issue of licences and internal revenue, which amounted to $16,503,769.86. That obtained from the Kowloon-Canton Railway amounted to $1,225,789.20, an increase of $200,630.43 over the preceding year. Revenue from duties was $8,697,852.02.

The largest item of expenditure, excluding the military contribution of $6,569,239.47, was that incurred by the Police Force which amounted to $2,620,708.37.

This, however, was less than the estimated expenditure of $3,075,359 and a decrease of $247,452.94 on the expenditure for the previous year.

The amount expended by the Public Works Department was $2,116,882.14, a decrease of $189,796.34 on the previous year.

Total Assets at 31st December 1932 amounted to $21,709,350.36 an excess of $12,847,062.24 over the Liabilities.

Water Storage In Colony

Position Better Than

The total storage of water in the Island Impounds on April 1 was 913.21 million gallons as against 922.33 million gallons on the corresponding day of last year. The storage on the mainland was 346.55 million gallons as compared with 259.60 million gallons last year.

The Island consumption for March was 249.59 million gallons as against 248.64 million gallons during March last year, while the mainland consumption for the month of March decreased from 153.56 million gallons in 1932 to 138.34 million gallons in 1933.

SALE OF INDECENT PICTURES.

Chinese Gaoled For Three Months.

Yeung Tak, a Chinese male of 26, was yesterday morning fined $250, in default 3 months' hard labour, by Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Central Magistracy, for possession of 195 post-card pictures of an indecent and obscene nature.

Detective-Sergeant McDonald, who prosecuted, said that the arrest of the accused was made as a result of a complaint by a member of the community.

On April 3 Sergeant McDonald saw the accused hand the pictures to this member.

On Friday evening at 6.30 p.m. he met the defendant in Queen's Road near Battery Park, where the defendant quoted him 100 pictures for $12. While they were discussing the pictures the defendant was arrested by a Chinese constable.

"Never in all my Police service have I seen such obscene and abominable pictures," said Sergeant McDonald, who asked that the maximum sentence be imposed.

HONG KONG'S NEW RESTAURANT.

Dairy Farm Produce For President Cafe.

Hong Kong's newest restaurant, the "President Cafe, Ltd.," has been opened for business at 63/65, Des Voeux Road, Central. It is the claim of the proprietors that only the best food will be served, and that at the lowest possible prices. In order to do this they will serve only the Dairy Farm Co's meat, milk, butter and ice-cream.

The cafe will open at 7 a.m., daily, and close at midnight, and will specialise in hot tiffins for $1 and cold lunches at 75 cents. Books of 30 tickets for the hot lunch will be priced at $25 and for the cold lunch $21.

A novel feature in the running of the cafe will be the medical inspection of the staff every month, and the manager's inspection twice daily. This will ensure strict cleanliness in both the preparation and serving of the food.

Attached to the cafe will be an American Soda Fountain where ices and cold drinks will be obtainable at all times.

PICKPOCKET TO BE BIRCHED.

Cut Open Pocket Of Victim.

Wong Siu-ki, a Chinese with a previous Police record, was sentenced to 6 months' hard labour and 18 strokes of the birch, by Mr. Wynne-Jones yesterday morning, for attempting to steal a purse from Yam Tai, a Chinese woman, on the Ferry Boat, Man Keung yesterday. Inspector Brennan outlining the facts said the accused was caught in the act of cutting a slit in the pocket of the complainant with a razor blade.

Tulle Scarves To The New Shades Of Pink

New Notion From Paris.

FLOWERS FOR SUMMER

FLOWERS are going to play an important part in the new spring and summer fashions according to "Suzette." She predicts that flowers will be seen in plenty on our evening ensembles.

For people who have rather long necks a tulle scarf is a boon on dressy occasions. Nor is it every one who can wear the quite backless dresses that are the feature of the hour just now. But if you have rather rashly succumbed to the lure of buying one of these "creations" and secretly know that your shoulder-blades are not all that you could wish in appearance—why—this is the very thing for you!

No longer need you suffer qualms of remorse from your unwearable purchase, and should you decide to swallow all squeamishness and wear it in defiance of your better judgment you can dispel that feeling of what those behind you are thinking by resorting to the tulle scarf.

Procure a straight length of tulle of a colour that will harmonise with the backless frock and long enough to allow of its being loosely knotted or fastened in front or on the shoulder as preferred. Then, either make yourself a number of large organdy or taffeta roses or buy some from your milliner and arrange them artistically at the two ends of the scarf securing them firmly with invisible stitches. Here and there over the rest of the tulle catch down as many loose petals as you please and you will get a really striking result.

Remember to work to a definite colour scheme and also to be careful to retain the fairly freshness of your materials and when next you wish to look "different" at a formal affair you will succeed very well.

"Economy" Coiffure Introduced

Budapest. HAIRDRESSERS here are now offering a new "economy" coiffure. They wave only that part of a woman's hair which is not covered by a hat. For these "partial" permanent waves special tariffs have been introduced.

The suggestion for the "depression" curls came from a husband.—Reuter.

White Fox Scarfs Accessories

DETACHABLE white fox scarfs tied with a bow in front are being worn this year as accessories to both coats and frocks.

One smart Parisian wears a long black velvet coat with a white fox scarf tied with a black velvet bow matching a princess frock of the same supple fabric.

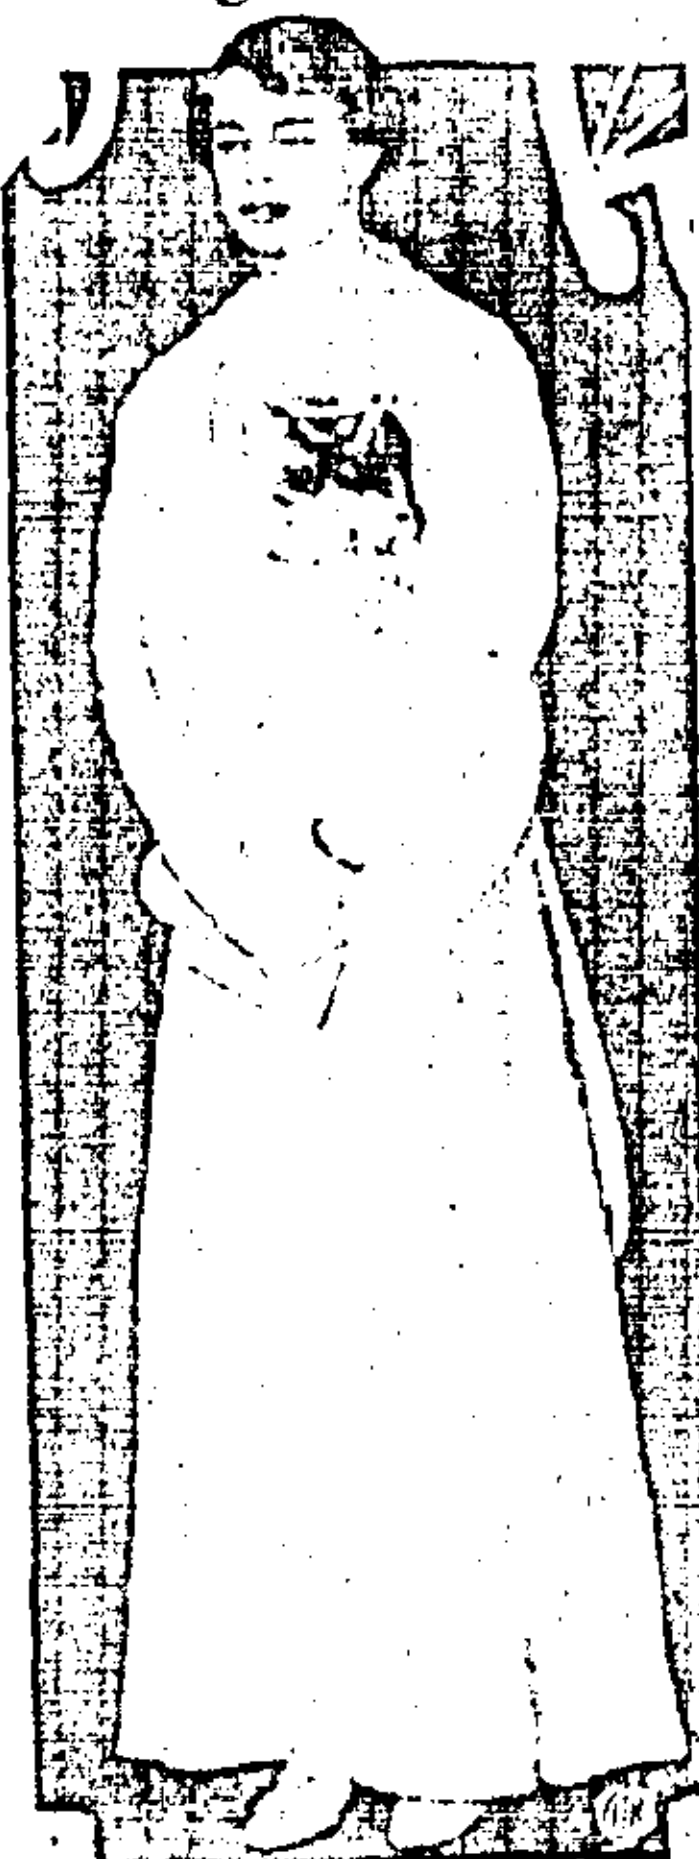

British Colour Council's "Spring Pastorals."

It seems that pink will be a leading colour for evening wear this spring. The newest pinks are christened Gipsy Rose, Cabaret and Satin Skin, the last named being a pearly flesh pink, which has immediately been seized upon by dress designers and is already popular. Satin skin will be equally notable for lingerie, and, for this purpose, has indeed been acclaimed the shade of the season.

The British Colour Council has issued a special group of colours under the enticing heading of "Spring Pastorals." These are pastel shades which describe themselves: Honey Flower, Lilac Rose, Petal Pink, Pizle and Zephyr Blue and a trio of delightful seasonal greens—Nymph Green, Young Spruce and April Green.

Browns and Greys will be worn much in town and the range of shades in these two colours is various. Cup Chocolate, Coffee Bean, and Berkeley Brown are some of the first named, while Chromium, Airplane and Storm Cloud are included in the grey materials.

Inaugural Gown

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, "First Lady" of the land, is shown wearing the gown in which she appeared at the Inaugural Ball in celebration of her husband's induction as President. The gown is of rare white brocade, trimmed with Brussels lace. With it Mrs. Roosevelt wears a delicate chiffon shawl and an orchid corsage.

CARE OF HAND BAGS

FEW women even begin to take the good care of their bags that they do of their shoes and gloves.

First, and most important, don't stuff your delicate new handbag full to overflowing with letters, memos, smokes, make-up and other things that could be weeded down to a very few essentials.

Second, empty out your bag, brush it inside and out with a clean brush and go over it with a cloth dipped in cleaning fluid, at least once a week. Then flatten it out, as it was when it came, put a few magazines or books on top of it to make it stay flat and leave it, at least overnight. Of course it helps if you have two purses and alternately using them for hard daily use.

Glossy Linen For New Summer Suits.

CHEMISIER FROCK STYLE

AN interesting novelty consists of a new type of linen with a glossy damask character, which is very attractive for summer tailored suits in apple-green and sand beige.

Patterned jersey frocks have plain trimmings, some being defined in turkey twilled pique, which is used for hats, facings to collars and cuffs, with plaited lacings of the pique passing through eyelet holes in bodices and along the outer forearms of long sleeves. Twine cordings are likewise used in this way. Long sleeves dominate in blouses, jackets and frocks. The new "arabic" cotton weaves in homespun suitings are used for full-length coats, one to wear over a pale grey pin-striped frock. The black and white domino rough cotton check is featured for collar lines on black coats.

Shepherd's Plaid is made into a chemisier frock style, with short masculine shirt collars made to look feminine with a little knotted instead of formal bow tie.

The new chemisier frock has an important air in plain lacings when the knots are embroidered with white spots.

The new grey, a dark smoke-tone called "Norwegian" grey, is chosen for a Norfolk jacket line with inverted box-pleats and patch pockets complete. The line is modernised, however, to hang straight under a belt over a pale lemon-coloured blouse set above the grey skirt.

New Turkish Beauty Queen

Istanbul. A pretty fair-haired girl, Nazire Fezri Hanem, has been elected "Miss Turkey 1933." She is a cousin of Keriman Hanem, who was elected "Miss Universe" last year. The New "Miss Turkey" will shortly leave for Madrid where the European Beauty Conference is to be held.

SOME LITTLE THINGS

TO be well dressed to-day is to spend a good deal of money and more time attending to the accessories.

Beads grow more and more a matter of matching. They must agree with one part of the colour scheme, at least, if not it all.

Bags are equally vital. For each ensemble there must be a bag to match. True, the wise woman usually contrives to make one bag fit in with two suits, but that is just another aspect of the "paying attention to the little things" idea.

BORDERERS VANQUISHED IN BOTH THE SHIELD SOCCER FINALS

SECOND HALF LAPSE AGAINST S. CHINA

TAM KONG PAK ORDERED OFF THE FIELD

MURRELL GIVES NAVY LAST MINUTE WIN WITH PENALTY

SMITH'S MAGNIFICENT 'KEEPING.

THE Borderers, winners of the Senior Shield last year, fell between two stools yesterday when they lost in both Shield Finals, South China winning in the premier game by 3 goals to 1, and the Navy triumphing in the junior match by the odd goal in three as the result of a last-minute penalty.

Tam Kong-pak, South China's right back, caught the referee's eye in an ugly incident that occurred late in the second half, and was sent off the field for the second time this season.

The brilliance of Smith, the Borderers' second team goalkeeper, was the feature of the afternoon's football. His magnificent display will go down in the annals of local soccer as one of the finest seen on the Club ground.

Mrs. W. T. Southern, wife of the Colonial Secretary, the Hon. Mr. W. T. Southern, presented the trophies and miniatures at the conclusion of the senior game, and was the recipient of a silver flower vase from Wong Mee-shun, the South China skipper.

SENIOR SHIELD.

South China Rout Borderers.

LEUNG WING-CHIU'S BRILLIANCE.

To South China goes the honour of holding the Senior Shield for a year as the result of a surprisingly easy victory over the Borderers by 3 goals to 1.

A large crowd were present on the Club ground, but it cannot be said that they were given an exhibition of football worthy of a final between two teams of such well-known capabilities.

In the League each side had won once, but on yesterday's showing there was no comparison between the teams. All the best football came in the first half when the Borderers, by their go-ahead methods, enjoyed more than their share of the game. A goal by Wong Mee-shun, the Chinese skipper, close on the interval upset the Borderers, for in the second half they played very poor football, and, with South China resting on their laurels, play became most uninteresting.

There were no weak spots in the South China team, and they excelled at half back, where Leung Wing-chiu played brilliantly, spoon-feeding his forwards with great ground passes. Fung King-cheong led the forward well until he came within shooting distance of goal and there he failed miserably. Every shot that he tried sailed yards over the bar, and each one should have resulted in goals. Ip played scintillating football on the wing, and sent over many splendid centres. Wong played his usual bustling game with marked success.

Only three of the Borderers side played up to their usual standard. Morrison played a sterling game in defence, his tackling being superb and his covering of Mullane was perfect. Podmore shone in defence and attack, breaking up many of the Chinese movements. Jones started off as if he was going to play the game of his life, but he faded away badly in the second half, and consequently little was seen of dangerous partnership with Duncan.

Williams made a very costly mistake which cost his side a goal, but he retrieved himself by making some great saves. He excelled himself by diving at the feet of the South China forwards, effecting saves which on two occasions temporarily knocked him out.

Harris at half played his best football in the opening half as did most of the Borderers players, but he too fell away in the second half.

The Borderers were the first to attack, Matthias being wide with his shot. At the other end Fung also shot wide when well placed. A great chance was missed when Cheng centred for the other forwards to miss completely in turn. After 15 minutes' play South China took the lead in an amazing manner. Cheng centred from the wing and, Williams, in catching the ball, allowed it to go over his hands into the net.

IP PAK WA.

The Borderers attacked heavily after this reverse, and Fortey had the ball on the goal line when Lim cleared out to Harris. Lim whose shot grazed the bar. A minute later Fortey and Harris indulged in a passing bout which culminated in Matthias passing to Jones who equalised with a brilliant header.

The Borderers continued to have more of the game and with their defenders well up the field, Lim had plenty of work to do, a great shot by Matthias from 30 yards out being turned around the post for a corner. Wong and Young finally broke away and Williams was injured in diving at the feet of Wong to save. Mullane and Morrison gave the South China forwards little scope with their covering play and near the interval Fung had a good shot saved at the expense of a corner. This was well placed by Wong, but the ball was cleared out to Wong again. Underwood hesitated in tackling and Wong sent in a great shot from the touchline which entered the top corner of the net to give the Chinese the lead.

Half time: South China 2 Borderers 1. A miskick by Tong Kwan looked dangerous, Lim being fortunate to clear. Duncan had a good chance when Lim punched the ball to his feet, but he shot wildly over the bar. Jones soon after had a good chance to level the scores, but he too shot over.

The Chinese took up the running after this and proceeded to dominate play throughout. Ip had a great chance, but he hesitated and Williams took the ball from his foot. Wong soon after headed over, and Fung had two good chances, but shot over the bar on each occasion.

Harris relieved when he went close with a good shot, but the Borderers lost all their former spirit and their team-work became ragged. A long kick by Leung nearly caught Williams napping, but he made good saves from Wong and Young. Ten minutes before the end Lim made a full lunge save for a corner, and while he was on the ground an argument took place between Harris W. and Tam Kong-pak resulting in the latter being given his marching orders.

Just on time Ip ran through, and Murrell's Last Minute Penalty Decides.

BORDERERS LACK STAMINA.

The Navy won the Junior Shield by beating the Borderers by the odd goal in three on the Club ground yesterday.

Extra time seemed inevitable when a last-minute penalty was converted by Murrell. The Navy deserved their victory for they had a slightly better half-back line, and they showed better stamina than the soldiers.

Both sets of forwards shot hard and often, Smith having more work to do than Longley and bringing off some great saves. When Rawson sent in a shot from the 'spot' it seemed odds on a goal, but Smith leapt across the goal to make a magnificent save. The first dangerous movement came when Wallace placed a free kick well in the goalmouth, but Rawson was sent away to the other end where Brookes hit the crossbar with Smith out of goal.

HOCKEY CHAMPIONS DEFEATED

Rest Attack Riddles H.K. Ladies' Defence.

CLUB SKIPPER PRESENTS TROPHY.

The Ladies' 1932-33 Hockey season concluded yesterday afternoon when the Rest beat the Hong Kong Ladies, Champions of the Caer Clark Cup League, by three clear goals on the Y.M.C.A. ground at King's Park, thus repeating last year's triumph.

Displaying an all-round superiority the Rest scored twice in the first half through M. Mason and M. Woolley, and the latter player added the third point after the interval.

At the conclusion of the game Mr. A. A. Dand, captain of the Hong Kong Hockey Club presented the Caer Clark Cup to the H.K. Ladies, winners of the trophy for the past three seasons, and the Southern Cup, for the runners-up, to the Rest. The members of the H.K. Ladies' team were presented with silver spoons, donated by Dr. Bunje, as souvenirs of their triumph.

The Rest forwards proved altogether too fast for the depleted champions' defence, P. Gittens and M. Remedios showing very fine form on their respective wings. M. Woolley led her forwards well, but she did not reveal her best form, although her second goal was the best shot of the match.

H. Knill led the champions' attack with great dash, but she was poorly supported. J. Harris-Walker effected several very good saves, but she was fortunate to save her side from a bigger defeat during periods of heavy pressure in the second half.

Hong Kong Ladies:—J. Harris-Walker; M. Bird and B. Franklin; E. G. Hagan, D. Robertson and A. Owen; Hughes; E. Bell, J. Dalziel, H. Knill, J. Churchill and A. G. Orge. The Rest:—B. Almada (Recreio); C. Osmund (Recreio) and A. Fowler (Ladies); E. Xavier (Recreio), E. M. Davis (C.B.A.) and M. Bryson (St. Andrew's); P. Gittens (St. Andrew's); M. Mason (C.B.A.), M. Woolley (St. Andrew's) (capt.), S. Dalziel (Ladies) and M. Remedios (Recreio).

LOWER DECK RECORD WIN.

Depleted Side Defeat Borderers.

ALLEN SCORES LONE GOAL.

Although weakened by the absence of McCrae, Steers and Tarr and by the fact that they played only ten men, the Navy Lower Deck defeated the South Wales Borderers by a goal to nil in their hockey game at Happy Valley yesterday.

The Borderers who attacked consistently, were unlucky not to score in the second half when they did everything in the circle but net. The Navy halves, however, had much to do with this, Reid being outstanding.

The Navy defence in the second half was superb, and their last-minute saves during this period were features of their game.

The Borderers opened the attack, but a good clearance saw play transferred to the other end where A. B. Reid narrowly missed with a difficult shot.

Allen opened the scoring with a fine goal after 45 minutes play, converting a pass from Barsby. A few minutes later the Navy went further ahead through A. B.

INCOGNITOS TRIUMPH

20th Battery Beaten By 3 To 1.

MAMAK HOCKEY TOURNEY.

The Incognitos further improved their position in the Mamak Hockey Tournament yesterday when they defeated the 20th Battery by 3 goals to 1 on the U.S.R.C. ground.

The Incognitos displayed a definite superiority, their close passing tactics continually leaving the soldiers' defence spreadeagled.

R. C. Reed played well and scored one of the three goals. A. M. Xavier and J. M. Pinto netting the remaining two. The 20th Battery played pluckily, C. Hopkins, besides being responsible for the only goal gained by the Army team, was their outstanding player.

After being led by the odd goal in three at the interval, the Battery improved considerably in the latter stages of the game. Again and again the ball was sent up the field into their opponents' territory, but lack of teamwork on the part of the Battery was responsible for their failure to decrease the arrears.

Incognitos:—A. P. E. Silva; P. M. N. Silva; E. V. Reed (capt.); E. G. Barros; W. A. Reed; M. Prata; C. E. Barros; J. M. Pinto; A. M. Xavier; R. C. Reed and A. P. Sousa. 20th Battery:—L. Bomb; F. Comby; G. T. Dodd; G. J. Macdonald; L. Bomb; G. Birmingham; Lieut. W. Birt (Capt.); G. Monley; L. Smith; Sgt. C. Clarke; G. W. Brown; G. C. Hopkins; and G. F. Woods. Referee:—Sgt. F. W. R. DULEEPSINHJI NOT PLAYING CRICKET THIS SEASON.

Giving Himself Opportunity of Making Complete Recovery.

Reuter understands from the best authority that K. S. Duleepsinhji will not play cricket this season in order to give himself the fullest opportunity to make a complete recovery.

Duleepsinhji, who has been re-elected captain of Sussex for this coming season, was selected to visit Australia with the M.C.C. team, but was forced to stand down owing to a nervous breakdown. He spent the winter in Switzerland and was reported to have made a full recovery.

Duleepsinhji, like the late Ranjitsinhji, his uncle, scored a century in his first Test against Australia—173 at Lord's in 1930. Last season he was largely responsible for the splendid Sussex revival.—Reuter.

LADIES' TENNIS CHAMPION.

WITH the sailing of the P. and O. s.s. Ranpura for Home yesterday, the Colony lost many prominent residents in the field of sport.

J. C. Lyal, former Captain of the Kowloon Cricket Club, left the Colony for good, while E. J. R. Mitchell, the Colony's victorious cricket skipper in Shanghai last May, also left for the Home Country. During his leave he will play for the Hong Kong team during their tour in Somerset this June, as will J. C. Lyal.

A. C. Burford, a member of the Kowloon Cricket Club's First Division Lawn Bowls team, also left on furlough. He skipped one of the K.C.C. rinks throughout last season.

LOSE BY 160 RUNS.

AN UNBROKEN NINTH WICKET PARTNERSHIP BETWEEN U. M. OMAR (57) AND G. C. BURNETT (20), WHICH REALISED 84 RUNS, AND BRILLIANT BOWLING BY F. D. PEREIRA, WHO RECORDED HIS SECOND "HAT TRICK" OF THE SEASON BY DISMISSING A. M. RODRIGUES, F. B. ZIMMERN AND E. L. GOSANO WITH SUCCESSIVE DELIVERIES, ENABLED THE REST OF THE CRICKET LEAGUE TO DEFEAT THE UNIVERSITY, THE CHAMPIONS, BY 103 RUNS AT POKFULAM YESTERDAY.

Prolific scoring featured the drawn match between Craigen-gower, junior champions, and the Rest of the Second League at Sookunpoo. L. D. Kilbee (55) and H. A. Alves (60 not out) added 89 runs for the Rest's fourth wicket and enabled M. P. Madar to declare at 180 for 7. After the champions had lost two wickets for 15 runs S. Abbas (25) and F. K. Lee (69 not out) added 92 runs for the third wicket. When stumps were drawn the champions required only 46 runs to win with six wickets in hand.

Without the services of G. R. M. Ricketts, who did not arrive from Swatow until very late in the afternoon owing to fog, Taikoo lost to Wayfoong by 160 runs, G. A. Stewart (6 for 17) and A. D. Lawson (3 for 8) dismissing them for only 25 runs. Ricketts participated in Taikoo's second innings and proceeded to give an exhibition of big hitting, scoring 61 not out. OMAR'S BIG HITTING.

GOING in at the fall of the sixth wicket at 61 U. M. Omar hit out with such refreshing vigour that he collected 57, scored out of 109, before the innings was declared closed. Fortuned by several dropped catches and one umpire's decision he went for the bowling from the commencement of his innings, finding the rails on no fewer than twelve occasions. He scored his 57 out of 84 runs scored from the bat, and registered his highest total of the season.

"Tinker" Lee bowled exceptionally well throughout the innings, and had the University not experienced an off day in the field, he would have returned better figures than 3 for 47. He bowled "leg theory".

Gosano was also unfortunate regarding dropped catches, but he was not seen at his best, keeping just short of a length. He, however, had Omar caught by Zimmerman behind the stumps, but the umpire surprised everyone by giving a negative reply to a confident appeal.

Only "Tinker" Lee showed any confidence in the face of the well varied Rest attack. He batted well for his 15 before mistiming a ball from Garthwaite to be caught at mid off. The remaining University batsmen failed miserably after Rido had been well taken at the wicket with only one run on the board and Rodrigues had been brilliantly caught by Pearce at third slip off Pereira at 23.

Pereira dismissed Rodrigues with the last ball of his fifth over, and followed this up by clean bowling Zimmerman and getting Gosano caught behind the stumps off his glove with the first two balls of his sixth over to register his second "hat trick" of the season—his first was against the Club in the League game on the H.K. C.C. ground.

Pereira bowled at the top of his form and would have run through the side had Teddy Fincher not given his other bowlers a chance.

The detailed scores in yesterday's games were as follow:

Mrs. Don Bradman has been presented with a grand piano by the Melbourne Cricket Club, in appreciation of Bradman's brilliant century in the second Test match, which was mainly instrumental in giving Australia the victory. A shilling fund, which realised £122, was opened to provide the memento.

SPALDING
for Speed

The all-important factor in modern lawn tennis is speed and yet more speed. Other things being equal the man with that extra speed wins the match.

The new Spalding laminated multi-ply rackets are the fastest and most powerful ever produced. They can be strung to the highest possible tension without risk of warping thus giving tremendous pace to the ball as it leaves the racket.

The Spalding range of rackets for 1933 comprises seventeen attractive models at prices to suit all purses.

WHAT MAKES CONSERVATIVES?

Englishman's Sense Of Authority

Tradition And Well-Ordered Change

(By J. B. Firth.)

WHAT in these days are Conservatives? They are men who serve the principles, and why should one be a Conservative? The questions arise after reading a book, "Conservatism in England," by Prof. Hearnshaw, a robust, polemical Tory.

He has been lecturing at Ashridge College—a finishing school, so to speak, for Conservatives—and his judgments, always pungent, are as accurate as such crisp, confident generalisations can be.

Many readers of this valuable historical survey may be surprised at the numerous guises and disguises which English Conservatism has assumed in the last three centuries, each determined by the major controversies of the epoch.

The Crown and its Prerogatives, the Succession, the Constitution, Church and State, Foreign Policy, the Franchise—these are but a few of the controversies which have divided Englishmen into hostile party camps. So in the last fifty years we have seen Trade Unionism, Imperialism, the Fiscal Question in turn become the lines of division. To-day the supreme issue is Socialism and its concomitant broad.

A STURDY ROOT
Hence it is well to ask, "What are Conservative principles?" since it is hardly a question of accepting or rejecting a body of eternal truth, delivered on whatever mount.

Some minds are naturally conservative. Those who by the grace of fortune can take wealth and an assured position for granted must be strongly disposed to maintain the existing fabric of things. Their numbers, however, seem destined to dwindle so far as the secure possession of inherited ease and wealth is concerned.

The average Englishman accepts the "orders" of society as he would accept the "orders" of architecture if he knew what they meant. He is neither envious nor class-conscious.

LABOUR LED AWAY.
Give him a fair deal and a fair chance—which he has not always had—and unless he is a born protestant against authority and tradition, in which case nothing will save him from jealous discontent, his sympathies turn quite naturally to Conservatism. England is the despair of Moscow, which is deliriously plotting to corrupt its soul.

Nor can the milder type of home-grown revolutionary understand how any industrial constituency, with a vast majority of working-class voters, can be so purblind as to elect a Conservative member, when it might have a smart young Socialist to patter the gospel of revolt or a trade unionist leader whose secret ambition is often found to be a house and grounds of his own at sixty, with full security of tenure.

Trade unionism, founded on the hard necessity of combination to defend the rights of the workman against grasping employers, led away by a false, but not wilfully false, Political Economy, has become, so far as most of its ambitious leaders are concerned, "politically-minded," and is still bent on leading "organised labour" down the strange and dangerous paths of "direct action" and Socialism.

LIBERAL RUIN.
It is ten thousand pities, for it has involved the ruin and destruction of the historic Liberal party, whose more demagogic leaders allowed themselves also to be seduced and led away. "I have long been convinced," wrote Macaulay, "that institutions, purely democratic, must sooner or later destroy liberty, or civilisation, or both." How reactionary the sentiment! Yet Macaulay was no Die-Hard Tory, but a vehement Whig.

The politicians who talk high-falutin nonsense about democracy and the blessings it must bring either ignore history or are ignorant of it.

"Democracy," wrote Mazzini, "is the progress of all through all under the leadership of the best and wisest." The Italian variety brought Italy to such a pass that it required Fascism and Mussolini to rebuild her from the foundations.

President Wilson, the typical ex-ante, was convinced in 1918-19 that American idealism had set the world on a new course. But it was only a short tack on the old course, contestably, on Service.

and America repented and turned back first.

Conservatism is the salt of the earth when the professional "Friends of Humanity" are vote-hunting for political power. Liberalism is the salt when the jack-booted Autocrat is in the saddle.

As for Socialism—it is a jibbering delusion and failure always, while Communism is a homicidal mania.

SOCIALIST DOWNFALL

Here in England the Socialist party, still furious at its complete overthrow at the last election by the votes of the working-class electors, is beginning to raise its head again. Chastened? Not at all. Penitent? Still less. Confessing its sins against the State? On the contrary, panting to commit them over again in worse and exaggerated form.

Listen to Sir Stafford Cripps vowing that the Parliament Act is too slow a poison and that the first act of the next Socialist Government shall be to swamp the House of Lords by the use of the Prerogative.

This is just crude, indecent political ruffianism. It is a proposal to murder the Constitution and lay the body down in quicklime. Crip-pism, in fact!

But the threat may well suggest to Conservatives whether the reformed Second Chamber of their much too vague aspirations should not be one incapable of being swamped by the exercise of the Royal Prerogative.

Prof. Hearnshaw justly acclaims Disraeli as the true founder of the Tory-Democratic creed. Indeed, he would almost have us believe that Opportunism found no place in his political principles. Yet Disraeli appears to me the Arch-Opportunist of our political history, shrewdly recognising when a position or a privilege was lost, and stoutly refusing, as the late Lord Salisbury once said, to be tied to a corpse.

AGE IS DEMOCRATIC

Radicals and Socialists scoff at such misty political philosophy. Their aspiration is for a grand smash-up and everything new—ferro-concrete and galvanised iron, and men and women bound in chains to Liberty.

The age, for good or ill, is Democratic. Conservatism, therefore, must be Tory-Democratic. The Die-Hards are unsafe guides. Ne present leurs souvenirs pour les droits. Many of them have had a long innings, and if left to themselves they would never consent to declare their innings closed.

Rights in time may become Privileges and Privileges Wrongs. Conservatism, in order to preserve, must advance. Tenure in these days must depend, visibly and indubitably, on Service.

ACID STOMACH

It rich foods disagree, it need not mean a "weak stomach." Sourness and gas doesn't mean "indigestion." Just take an anti-acid to sweeten the system, and enjoy life! Before meals, or afterward when distress is felt. Do this awhile, and stomach and bowels will be in fine order. Use only genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia; it is standard. The other preparations do not have the same anti-acid action.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM: Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at drug stores everywhere. Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

BRIDGE NOTES

BRIDGE AND MATHEMATICS
BY ELY CULBERTSON

Bridge is not an exact mathematical science, and the player who sees in Bridge only an application of the law of mathematics applied to honour-tricks and distributional tricks misses the very spirit of the game. Psychology—both the psychology of your partner and the psychology of your opponent—is an important element in the bidding and play of hands at the Contract table. Thus, in certain stages of the bidding, against one type of player a certain daring bid would be extremely poor tactics, because that player is of the "killer" type, and prefers to double rather than to play the hand, while the same bid against another opponent would be extremely effective, because the opponent in this case prefers to attempt to make game or part-score at his own bid rather than to permit his opponents to play the hand even at a loss.

Good Bridge playing is mathematics plus imagination plus psychology. The exact mixtures in any given rubber will differ with the make-up of partner and opponents. The one safe rule to follow is: Never, under any circumstances, become a wooden player or a wooden bidder.

Precise bidding, which is mental play, is usually rewarded with the exact making of the contract, provided the opponents are kind enough not to interfere with the bids which may upset the calculations of the purely mathematical mind, but there are many hands that do not lend themselves to precise mathematical formulae.

In the hand below, played recently in a Rubber game at the Cavendish Club, New York, the West player seized an opportunity to convey additional information about his hand by making a slightly unorthodox bid, because he felt uncertain as to the correct declaration on the hand and wished to assure himself of a further response from his partner.

West—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

North:—

East:—

Club—7 2

South:—
Spade—10 8 5
Heart—10 9 3
Diamond—A 5 4 3
Club—9 8 4

The bidding:—
(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs).

South West North East
JS. (1) Pass 2S. (2)
Pass 3C. (3) Pass 3NT. (4)
Pass Pass Pass

(1) Of course, the biddable suit is shown first.

(2) A much better bid than one notrump. The hand contains adequate trump support for spades, and this information is of greater importance to West than knowledge that East holds about 1½ honour-tricks, which would be the information conveyed by a bid of one notrump.

(3) Unorthodox, but basically sound. West, vulnerable, does not wish to plunge blindly into the bid of three notrump, nor with his evenly balanced hand attempt to make game in spades, which, with partner's single raise, appears impossible. However, game at notrump may still be available, and thus the further approach to that possible goal by this bid of a shaded suit.

(4) With this additional information regarding West's hand, East, with honours in the unbid suits, decides to take the plunge.

As the cards lay, game could be made in either spades or notrump. The correct play of the hand at notrump was rather interesting. South, the leader, made the correct Opening of the 10 of hearts, the top of a worthless suit. When East saw the Dummy, he at once realized that time militated against the possible making of game through any attempt to establish tricks in the club suit. Playing to establish clubs, he must lose one diamond, two hearts and two clubs. His one chance for game, therefore, rested in the establishment of the diamonds, with the loss of a single trick. If this could be done before a heart trick was established, then game was safe, as East must then make four spades, two hearts, and three diamonds.

Thus reasoned, East planned the play. He refused to win the first round of hearts, winning the second with the King in his own hand. The 8 of diamonds was then led, and when South refused to play the Ace, the King was played from Dummy. The 7 of diamonds was returned, and East realized that if South held both Ace-Knave of diamonds, game was impossible. The 9 was therefore finessed, and South, seeing no advantage in refusing to win, took the trick. The heart suit was continued, but East won with Dummy's Ace, returned to his own hand, with the Ace of spades, cashed 2 diamond tricks, and thus made his contract.

A clever use of sound psychology, designed to insure another bid from partner, brought a satisfactory result.

Washington Supersedes Geneva.

AS we stated in these columns in our issue of March 19, nationalism is too dominant in Europe to allow any real progress towards Disarmament. We pointed out that the British Premier's visit to Rome was a last despairing effort to save the Disarmament Conference from utter failure and that his mission was unlikely to produce any results that would assist the peace movements. Unfortunately, the pessimistic predictions have been justified, and recent events have aroused grave anxiety. The perturbation felt over the European situation was revealed in Friday's cables on the increasing friction between France and Germany. The hostile reception in Berlin and Paris to the Four-Power Pact indicates its doom — unless it is so amended by compromise as to be ineffective. French nervousness over the German situation underlay the speech of M. Daladier, the French Premier, in the Chamber of Deputies on Thursday night, but more disturbing was the statement by M. Paul Boncour, Foreign Minister, who declared that "the Disarmament Conference was meeting with opposition from the Italian-German bloc, which, if continued, would create war in Europe to-morrow." The situation is fraught with danger, and if it were confined to Europe the outlook would be gloomy in the extreme. Conferences and League sessions have dragged on interminably and no real progress has been made. It is clear that no solution can be found at Geneva and the scene must be shifted. Fortunately, excellent prospect exists that the stage will be transferred from Geneva to Washington, where international negotiations are much more likely to succeed. Intervention is essential, and, owing to her commanding position as creditor nation, the United States is clearly the nation best qualified to act. America possesses a bargaining power which enables her to influence world policy, if not actually dictate the trend of international affairs, and if that power is employed wisely, the world (including the United States) will benefit. The most reassuring news for a long while is of President Roosevelt's invitations to the Premiers of France, Germany, Japan and Italy to visit Washington. America, and the rest of the world, have suffered from the isolation policy adopted by the United States, and Mr. Roosevelt's predecessors have retarded international progress by remaining aloof from world affairs. The new President has shown that he realizes the necessity of international co-operation to effect world recovery, and is ready to contribute to the efforts to accomplish a return to normal. It has been vividly brought home by the economic depression that America — or any other nation — cannot isolate herself from the rest of the world and that disaster in one country is, sooner or later, reflected in all other countries. America may not only participate, but may give the lead in international negotiations. President Roosevelt is to confer separately with the leaders of the Powers, and Mr. Ramsay MacDonald leaves England on April 15 for the first meeting. The importance of these forthcoming conferences cannot be over-stressed, and at them the essential groundwork can be prepared for the World Economic Conference, on the success or failure of which the fate of the world depends. All the pressing problems, War Debts, Reparations, Disarmament, Tariffs, Currency, etc., are inter-related and their solution would provide the surest antidote to the rising tide of Nationalism which is threatening to disrupt Europe. Washington is to be the new venue for international gatherings, and in the new atmosphere the world's statesmen may find the solution which has eluded them for so long at Geneva.

BI-CENTENARY OF FAMOUS POTTER.

Invented Formula For Bone China.

MR. JOSIAH SPODE.

London.

The bi-centenary of the birth of Josiah Spode, one of the founders of the potters' trade, falls this year.

Born at Wolstanton in 1733, he was apprenticed at the age of 13, along with Josiah Wedgwood, at the Whieldon Factory, established by the famous Thomas Whieldon at Stoke-on-Trent.

In 1765 he became manager of a factory in the same town which was making salt-glazed ware and stone jugs. Five years later he bought the entire concern.

There Spode began perfecting the process of underglaze blue printing, which he introduced into Staffordshire, being the first to produce those earthenware tea, dinner and dessert services which remain the staple industry of the Potteries to-day.

Three years before his death he completed his formula for bone china, which Worcester, Derby and Chelsea all had to follow. Fifty per cent. of Spode China, known as the Copeland type, is pure cow bone. It takes its name from William Copeland, Spode's London agent and a member of the East India Tea Company, whom he took into partnership in 1793.

After Spode's death his second son, also named Josiah, continued the partnership; and at the present time the Copeland family are still carrying on the great Spode tradition, producing the very highest class of china.

In 1893 Mr. Copeland, then Lord Mayor of London and a Member of Parliament, took into partnership his traveller, Thomas Garrett. To celebrate this event the Masters and Foremen at the Stoke factory gave a dinner to their staff, after which a beautiful cup and silver were made from the bones "left over."

At the same time the Copeland family gave a dinner to the whole of the workpeople. An ox was roasted in the yard, and from the bones was made a magnificent punch-bowl, which was finely decorated with the crest of the Wheatstreak Inn, where the dinner was held.—Reuter.

OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

British Museum Poverty.

The petition which was presented to Parliament by Mr. Baldwin recently, on behalf of the trustees of the British Museum, is another illustration of the strange financial plight of that great and invaluable State institution.

Such a petition has to be submitted annually to the House, explaining the financial position of the Trust, and praying Parliament to grant such aid as it thinks fit.

This aid is by no means adequate to the needs of the Museum. If it were we should not have the somewhat humiliating spectacle of the Museum printing its own catalogue, as it is doing, with the help of subscriptions from outside.

Cost of the Catalogue.

The work began about three years ago, and the catalogue, when complete, will consist of 165 volumes, each of 500 double-column pages.

If the number of subscribers, who are euphemistically called "donors," reaches 400, the total price of the catalogue on rag paper and in good buckram binding will be about £500 to £600.

The production of this immense catalogue, which will contain 2,000,000 titles, will cost altogether about £200,000.

Coming to London.

A noted trio of authors—Maxim Gorki, Henri Barbusse, and Theodore Dreiser—may shortly be seen in London.

It was possible once upon a time to speak of Gorki—"Maxim the Bitter"—as an author. For his stories were an artistic expression of his terrible life as an art student painting icons, as kitchen boy on a river steamer, and as a baker's help at a wage of five shillings a month.

All this led to revolution and exile. But when the Tsar was overthrown Gorki returned to Russia; and when Kerensky in turn was overthrown Gorki threw in his lot wholeheartedly with the Bolsheviks.

He seemed to have abandoned literature, except for an occasional play which, of course, is "agin" the capitalist.

A Pacifist Congress.

These writers are coming here primarily to attend an anti-war congress. Maxim Gorki has not yet applied to the passport authorities for a visa. But he will have no difficulty, unless the Home Office decide against his visit on political grounds.

Barbusse and Dreiser.

Barbusse is familiar among us, and himself feels at ease in London, perhaps owing to the fact that his mother was English.

He is admired by many Frenchmen, who dislike his political opinions, and tolerated by extreme Communists, who regard his revolutionary writings as so much literature.

Theodore Dreiser is on his way to become America's Grand Old Novelist, but it may be said that his reputation in Europe has been higher for many years than in the United States. There his ugly, powerful books, written in the naturalistic vein, have not always been acceptable.

New Light on Old Story.

When Lord Hardinge of Ponnahurst, a former Viceroy of India, took his final departure in state from the old capital of Delhi, the story was circulated that the flagstaff on Government House was struck by lightning, and the Union Jack torn to shreds.

That story was exploded recently, however, when Lord Hardinge revealed the true facts in a letter read at a meeting of the East India Association at Caxton Hall, Westminster.

"I see the old story repeated," he wrote, "of how the flagstaff on Government House, Calcutta, was struck by lightning and the flag torn to pieces when I finally left what had been my official residence for two years. It was not so. The story was due to the nautical language of a newspaper correspondent who informed his journal that the flag was 'struck' as I left Government House, meaning simply that it was lowered.

"This was made into a good story by the Calcutta Press. It is true that there was the sound of distant thunder and gentle rain, but no lightning."

18th-Century French Art.

It was indeed a lucky day for the Royal Northern Group of Hospitals when they captured Sir Philip Sassoon as their honorary treasurer. On behalf of their funds he has, in recent years, organised five of the finest private exhibitions of art which London has seen. The sixth promises to outshine those that have gone before.

The doors of No. 25, Park-lane, were recently opened to the public, and a wonderful collection representative of 150 years of French Art at its most interesting period—from Louis XIV's accession in 1643 to the death of Louis XVI. In 1793 were displayed.

No branch of art is excluded, and pictures, furniture, silver, tapestry, bronzes, porcelain and other objects d'art have been lent from the best collections here, in France, and in America.

The Queen's Contributions.

Her Majesty the Queen has lent a number of delightful objects from her own fine collection. Many of the pictures which have been collected have never been exhibited before.

Notable among the masterpieces which aroused much interest and admiration were "La Belle Strasbourgeoise," by Largilliere. An ugly-looking dog to which Mme. de Pompadour was much attached forms the subject of a Boucher picture lent by Lady Juliet Duff, and of a fine piece of Sevres china lent by Lord Rosebery.

It required but a glance at the proofs of the catalogue to imagine the immense amount of work involved in organising a show of this scope. In that task Sir Philip has had the able assistance of Mrs. David Gubbay.

Peter the Great Ring.

There is, apparently, some mystery about the manner in which Peter the Great's famous signet ring, which was sold at Sotheby's for £370, came out of Russia.

The ring was sold in 1920 to Mr. W. J. Gibson, a member of a well-known Anglo-Russian family, in Royal by one of those organisations which smuggled art treasures out of Russia into Estonia, mainly across Lake Peipus.

The ring, which was formerly one of the sights of the Hermitage Museum in St. Petersburg, was sent immediately to Stockholm, where it was bought by a Swedish dealer.

Kreuger must then have been too busy. Otherwise this treasure would hardly have escaped his notice.

Elephant Charm for the Duke.

The Duke of Gloucester, has been presented with a bangle made from the hair of the elephant he shot some months ago in Southern Sudan.

This is in accordance with native custom. Elephant hairs are considered exceptionally lucky. They are taken from the tail.

Elephant tails used to fetch about thirty shillings in the market. Now, as far as lucky bangles and ornaments are concerned, they are often made synthetically.

Anton Lock's First Etching.

Mr. Anton Lock, who has devoted to the portraiture of horses a remarkable collection of paintings, etchings and woodcuts began his career as an etcher in a curious way.

His first 'copper plate' was the worn and polished side of a Victorian penny. His wax was cobble's wax. His needle was borrowed from his mother's sewing basket. His acid was taken from a supply kept for making inscriptions on dog-collars.

Anton Lock, who was once employed in a sailing stable, is now one of the most promising young artists in this country.

The Greatest Week In History

Anniversary Of World's Supreme Sacrifice

THE CALL OF CHRIST

(By A Local Padre.)

(This is another of the series of articles written exclusively for the "Sunday Herald" by a local Army chaplain.)

THE hurry and bustle of modern life, make the observance of the Church Seasons which involve weekdays, more difficult than in the past. The things of the world are more with us, not in quiet succession, but with carefully prepared thrills, by the daily press, and the innumerable distractions caused by frequent posts and engagements.

It is harder to get free from the purely secular, and we do not succeed to when we strive to interpret everything as sacred, and say there is no secular. For there are mountain peaks of real communion, as well as the drudgery of life in the valleys.

The week that commences to-day, is one of the peaks. In it we are brought face to face with the greatest week in human history. The events of this week turned the whole world upside down. On Friday the business of the Christian communities throughout the globe will cease, in memory of that day in Galilee when a Cross stood stark against an Eastern sky.

We cannot neglect the call of Holy Week, without grave loss to our spiritual lives. The greatest trouble in the world to-day is that people forget the fact that they have souls as well as minds and bodies, and so only live two-thirds of the life God Almighty meant them to live. This week reminds us that there is something else in life besides golf, bridge, racing and the pictures,—all good and right in their proper place, but so often allowed to become the only things we can think of.

Cannot we pause this week in our full round of social activities, and let our minds go back to the closing scenes of the greatest drama ever played on the stage of the world's long life? We shall not be the losers if we do.

The death of Christ was no afterthought. It was predetermined by Himself. The deeper we study the Gospels, the deeper is this conviction forced upon our souls. His name foretold it. His baptism was a prelude to it. His teaching pointed to it. His will in perfect correspondence with the will of God. He had learned obedience through His 30 years of human life, and He was ready to show it to the end.

We cannot understand the drama as it unfolds in deed and speech unless we enter into the fact that He knew He was about to die,—to give His life a ransom for many.

Hailed As King.
He began His stay in Jerusalem by an entrance which called forth the wild enthusiasm of His Galilean friends. As they waved their branches in the air they hailed Him as a King,—a term His enemies did not fail to note. Within a week it was hanging as a term of irony over His Cross. He entered the Holy City with their plaudits ringing in His ears, and the next day saw Him cleansing the Temple, and recalling those within its precincts to the fact that it was meant to be a place of prayer, not a centre for money-making.

This was somewhat startling, but not less than His rebuke to the hothouse that tribute was to be paid to Caesar.

There is no space to go through the events of this great week. There was a forward import in them all. Looking back we can see the key to their interpretation. At the time they must have seemed a great enigma to that politically intoxicated multitude. He had no thought of an earthly kingdom,—they had no conception of a heavenly one.

On the Wednesday and Thursday, He passed the greater part of the time with the inner circle of friends, to whom He revealed the future. On them now was the whole responsibility of His mission to depend. He knew that there would be a waiting time before the great consummation of the ages, after His death and resurrection, and He wished them not to be downcast and in despair, because the end was not yet. The Church is to be a waiting and a watching Church. They had to be made to realize that despite all appearances to the contrary, all would come right in the end.

Victory To Follow.
As the woman broke that box of precious ointment upon Him, He saw love's homage amid all that was black and dark, and foretold the burial that would crush their hopes, but would yet be followed by a glorious victory.

There followed the supper in the upper room on that cool quiet Thursday night, and we see Him ministering to His disciples, in the simple ceremonial of washing their feet. It was Love's Sacrament expressed in service. We see Him in the presence of the traitor. We watch Him as He institutes the Lord's Supper, appointing a permanent rendezvous for those who love Him in a simple meal.

We follow them as they walked through the streets, crowded with pilgrims up for the Feast, across the waters of the Kedron Brook, and up into the garden hallowed by sacred memories. There in the darkness of such agony as we can never conceive, He poured out His soul in prayer, in that last hour of high communion with God His Father. As we watch Him there, we can enter into something of what the Cross meant and means, for in that hour He received strength to face His arrest, His trials, and the final scene on earth, as far as the thoughts of men were then concerned. The Cross was the goal to which all led. And from the Cross, His Voice rings out across the ages, moving the hearts of men, not by the spectacle of a just man cruelly done to death, but as the Son of God giving Himself a willing sacrifice for the sins of humanity.

Final Scene On Earth.
A great leader of men once cried to a crowd of his followers "I offer neither quarters, nor provisions, nor wages. I offer hunger, thirst, forced marches, battles, death. Let those who love their country with their hearts, and not with their lips only, follow me." That was the call of a patriot. From the Cross crowned hill of Calvary there comes another call across the ages. "All this I did for thee, what wilt thou do for Me?"

ISLAND IN HEART OF EUROPE.

Vienna Once Sea-Side Resort Of Emperor.

Vienna, in the heart of Europe hundreds of miles from the sea, was once, in the Stone Age, "Vienna-on-Sea."

It has now been definitely established that the "Tirolese Garden" in the grounds of Schoenbrunn Palace (the former summer residence of the Austrian Emperors) was once an island rearing its head from the sea.

The line of the former beach is quite clear, and mussel-shells in considerable quantities have been found nearby. An earthen spoon, a prehistoric stone ball and other remains show that the "island" was inhabited by stone age men.

POLICEMAN MISTAKEN FOR BURGLAR

Officer Injured In Shooting Mix-Up.

TWO THIEVES ESCAPED.

Johannesburg.
Thieves in an unoccupied house; a neighbour in a backyard with a shotgun; an amateur wrestler prowling about in a front garden; and a policeman shot in the leg by mistake—these were the performers in an extraordinary shooting comedy outside a house in Loch Avenue, Parktown.

But for the fact that the policeman was injured—happily not seriously—the night's episodes provided a story rich in funny incidents.

The night's disturbance was caused by two native burglars who came out of the adventure best of everybody, for they got away—apparently without stealing anything.

The occupier of the house, Mr. D. M. Griffiths, was away. To guard against burglary he arranged an automatic alarm signal which would ring a bell in Mr. R. Tazwell's house next door. He also arranged with Mr. C. Blackmore, a local amateur wrestler, to help Mr. Tazwell if required.

Into this trap two native thieves walked. Mr. Tazwell was aroused by the bell. He telephoned to the police, sent his daughter to wake Mr. Blackmore, and took up his position with a shotgun in the backyard of Mr. Griffiths' house. Mr. Blackmore stood in the front garden.

Two uniformed policemen arrived, and hastened to the back of the house. One of them flashed on his torch, and Mr. Tazwell immediately fired one barrel over the head of what he thought were the thieves to frighten them.

The two policemen ran round the corner of the garage with Mr. Tazwell in pursuit. Mr. Tazwell fired again and here, apparently he wounded Constable Bergh in the leg.

Mr. Blackmore, hearing the shots, ran round to the street, saw two figures and chased them. One disappeared; the other he followed for some distance.

The figure he was following, he said, finally turned round and fired three shots, but the bullets did not go anywhere near him.

While the shooting was going on, an eye-witness is alleged to have reported that he saw two natives run away.

How many shots were fired is still uncertain. Mr. Tazwell fired twice, and Constable Bergh three times.

U. S. REFORESTATION SCHEME PASSES

Unemployed Relief Plan Unchanged.

250,000 TO HAVE JOBS

Washington.
President Franklin D. Roosevelt's Unemployment Relief and Reforestation Bill received a working over in first the Senate and then the House recently, passing both bodies, but must still obtain Senate approval in its final form before becoming law.

It was predicted the Senate would accept the final House draft and that President Roosevelt will sign the bill immediately. Roosevelt hopes to get started within three weeks on the project which will put 250,000 men from the ranks of the unemployed to work in the Nation's forests.

Administration supporters smashed a mild revolt in the House on the part of the labour bloc, which had a substitute Bill in the form of an amendment written by Chairman P. Connery of the Labour Committee.

House Wrangles.
The House rejected this by a vote of 200 to 90.

After being temporarily jammed in one of the worst Parliamentary tangles in years, the House finally wrote in an amendment authorizing the President to divert appropriations from public works to reforestation.

Congressman Carroll L. Beedy of Maine led the attack on this proposal, challenging the right of the Labour Committee to authorize such a move.

A noisy wrangle ensued, and Congressman Joseph W. Burns, Democratic floor leader, moved for a recess while he summoned the rules committee, which announced that the appropriation was in order, thus assuring the financing of the project.

Changes Acceptable.
Thereafter the measure passed without a roll call and was sent back to the Senate, making the second time it had cleared the House.

The Senate adopted the Bill earlier in the day after amending the original House draft, removing some of the details which organized labour found objectionable and described as "a conscriptionavoring of Hitlerism."

These included the provision for recruiting the "Civilian Conservation Corps" for a year's enlistment, and also details of compensation. However, the measure still gave Roosevelt broad powers to develop the project as he desires.

It was understood that the modifications written into the bill were acceptable to the President.—U. P.

PIGEON PIE FOR UNEMPLOYED.

Zagreb Plan To Thin Out Birds.

Belgrade.
Pigeon pie will soon be on the menu for the unemployed of the city of Zagreb, the capital of Croatia.

The city council has decided, despite a hard fight by bird-lovers to prevent it, to thin out the pigeons which throng the city's central square and congregate on its principal buildings.

A campaign is to start against the birds, which are to be hunted with nets. Rewards will be given for pigeons' eggs and birds which are killed or caught. All laws for the preservation of the birds are to be withdrawn.

Those which are killed are to be given to the kitchens where free food is prepared for the unemployed, whose usual diet of soup and bread will be varied with welcome portions of pigeon.—Reuter.

STARVING BUSHMEN RAID FARMS

Drought Drives Natives To Banditry.

POLICE POWERLESS.

Windhoek.
The powers of endurance of the Kalahari Bushmen are traditional but when Nature sends a drought which dries up the water-holes, drives away the game and destroys the "veldkos," the three sources of sustenance, these hardy folk move east across the Bechuanaland border into South-West Africa and become a serious nuisance.

Moving swiftly, they harass the farmers, driving off bunches of two and three head of cattle, slaughtering them, gorging themselves, and disappearing again long before their presence has been detected.

The past year's drought has brought a large number of Bushmen across the border, and complaints from farmers to the east have been pouring in to Steinhagen and Gobabis police posts. It is suspected, though proof is not forthcoming, that the majority of these cattle-slaughtering bands of Bushmen are directed by a certain chief named Semkau.

Semkau is alleged to have instigated the attack on the police force in 1924, when the magistrate at Gobabis, Captain van Ryneveld, was fatally shot by a poisoned arrow. The police were never able to bring the crime home to Semkau, though they sent out a punitive expedition which engaged the Bushmen and killed a large number.

Few white men have seen Semkau—for he always manages to evade the police patrols, and one of his henchmen stoically becomes the scapegoat, accepting any punishment that should rightly have gone to the chief.

These cattle raids of recent months have affected the Steinhagen police more than any other post. No sooner do they return from one patrol than a fresh complaint awaits them, and they must needs set out on another dreary march of many days' duration with little water over burning sands and shifting dunes in hot pursuit of the elusive Bushmen.

2,000 Mile Chase.

During the past three months various patrols from this police post have covered over 2,000 miles in various directions on horseback, on camel and on foot, tracking and chasing bands of Bushmen. They have caught over 25, who have received sentences of six months' imprisonment.

The need of the Bushmen for food must be singularly great, for they are becoming more daring than ever. In the past they have only directed their efforts at stray cattle. To-day the presence of a herdsman or even herdsboy does not frighten them. They intimidate the headmen with their poisoned arrows, and naturally the frightened youths let them carry on without interfering.

Recently they drove off cattle belonging to some natives in the Epikuro Reserve. Learning of this the natives set off in chase and overtook the Bushmen, who fired on them, one of the Hereros being wounded with a poisoned arrow. This frightened them and the Bushmen made their escape.

The wounded Herero was in the greatest of agony, and it was only the fortunate arrival of a friendly Bushman on the scene that saved his life, for he had the antidote to the arrow poison.

The police are almost powerless to control the Bushmen on account of their nomadic habits. It is, however, expected that rains will fall very shortly in the Kalahari and that the Bushmen will then move westward to their usual haunts, leaving the settlers in peace.—Reuter.

SANITARY BOARD AGENDA.

Expenditure Report For Consideration.

The Report of the Committee appointed to consider the proposed changes in the estimates of the Sanitary Department and the proposed Public Works Extraordinary for the Sanitary Department for 1934, will be presented at the Sanitary Board meeting to be held on Tuesday next.

Applications for licences for an eating house at No. 78, Fa Yuen Street and for a bake-house at No. 15, Spring Garden Lane, will also be considered.

America's Federal Reserve System Steady Growth In Power Is Assured

INTERESTING ADDRESS AT CHINESE Y.M.C.A.

THE Federal Reserve System in America was the subject of an address delivered by Mr. Kingston Taft Tan at the Chinese Y.M.C.A. on Friday night.

He said:—
This year has been one of the most critical in the history of American banking. The volume of bank failures and the general distress that this has caused in many communities have aroused a widespread search for some solution of the banking problems. Some say that the answer is better bank management; others that the extension of branch banking will be their salvation. Legislators are demanding the separation of banks from their security affiliates and even some form of guarantee of bank deposits. One definite proposal that has commanded greater interest and respect is that bringing all the banks under the Federal Reserve System.

It is significant to note that under the Federal Reserve Act the country is divided into 12 districts in each of which there is a Federal Reserve Bank. These Reserve Banks may have branches in their own districts, and many do have. The capital of each Reserve Bank is subscribed by the member banks within its district. All National banks are compelled to be members and State banks are permitted to join provided they comply with certain requirements.

General Supervision.
The Reserve Banks are under the "general supervision" of the Federal Reserve Board at Washington, the members of which are appointed by President of the United States. The Board has extensive powers, either granted specifically or implied in the Federal Reserve Act. It can go to almost any extent it chooses in the management of the Reserve Banks. Detailed reports are sent to Washington—daily, weekly, monthly, and annually—and all 12 banks are connected, with one another, and with the Board by private wires.

The Board is thoroughly informed about the current operations of every Reserve Bank and does exercise control in many cases with regard to every minute movement. The Federal Reserve Board also has a staff of examiners who from time to time visit the Reserve Banks and make thorough examinations. Although the Board has no capital of its own, the Federal Reserve system in effect provides a Central bank.

The Federal Reserve Board is composed of the Secretary of the comptroller of Currency, ex-officio, and six persons appointed by the President. The six appointed members represent the financial, agricultural, industrial, and commercial interests of the country; one is designated by the President as Governor and one as Vice-Governor of the Board. No member of Congress can sit on the Board.

Each Reserve Bank has a board of nine Directors, three of whom are appointed by the Federal Reserve Board and six elected by the member banks in the district. The Board designates one of its appointed members as Federal Reserve Agent and Chairman of the reserve bank's board of directors. He is the personal representative of the Board in his Reserve Bank. Each Reserve Bank has a Governor, elected by its Directors, whose functions correspond closely to those of the President of any other bank.

No Direct Loans.
The Reserve Banks are bankers' banks. They accept deposits from member banks, the Government, and, for exchange purposes only, from other Reserve Banks and from non-member banks in their respective districts. They do not accept deposits from individuals or business houses. Likewise they loan only to their respective member banks, to one another, and to the Government. They buy, from banks or any one in the open market, bills of exchange and domestic acceptances of the type permitted under the Act; but they do not loan directly to individuals or business concerns.

A Reserve Bank rediscounts for its member bank the notes of their customers provided they arise out of commercial or agricultural transactions. It also loans directly to member bank upon Government securities as collateral. By permission or direction of the Board it rediscounts for other Reserve Banks, or purchases bill of exchange, acceptances, or securities from them. The rate of discount charged to member banks or to other Reserve Banks is subject to the approval or determination of the Board. By exercising these powers the board can shift funds from one part of the country to another upon its own terms as need may arise.

A Reserve Bank issues Federal Reserve notes in exchange for gold or commercial and agricultural paper of the kinds eligible for rediscount. Evidently these notes may expand as trade requires so long as the Reserve Bank has sufficient reserves to back them up. A Reserve Bank must not pay out the notes of another Reserve Bank, but must send them either to the issuing bank or to the Board for redemption. As soon, therefore, as a Federal Reserve note gets into a Reserve Bank, it is retired.

Hong Kong Banks Controlled.
In order to encourage the development of "dollar exchange" (That is, draft in terms of American money) and of a discount market in the United States, member banks are permitted to accept, drafts, arising out of foreign trade. Under the Edge Act, passed December 24, 1919, banks are permitted to combine in the establishment of foreign banking corporations which are to deal exclusively in transactions connected with the financing of foreign trade. Member banks may also establish branches in foreign countries. For example, the National City Bank of New York and the Chase National Bank in Hong Kong are under the Act.

However, the Federal Reserve Board Acts as a clearing house for the Reserve Banks, and they in turn do the same for banks in their districts. Non-member banks may avail themselves of the clearing privilege by conforming to certain requirements. All member banks are required, however, to remit at par to the Reserve Bank for any items, presented to them for payment. Through this system enormous saving is made both in time and in money. Each Reserve Bank is required to maintain a balance of not less than $1,000,000 in the Gold Settlement (Continued on Page 15.)

CURATES' MARRIAGE PROBLEM

Church Discourages Early Unions.

EMINENT BISHOP'S RULING

London. The Church of England is faced with an unemployment problem among curates. A few years ago there was a great shortage of candidates for ordination, but to-day the position is reversed, candidates outnumbering vacancies.

But this does not mean that there is no need for increased man-power in the Church. Once again it is a matter of money. The Church cannot afford to pay for more curacies even though the work is there to be done.

Partly because of this financial difficulty and partly on wider grounds, there is a strong movement within the Church to discourage early marriage among clergymen.

The Bishop of Chelmsford, Dr. Henry A. Wilson, has announced that he is going to make it a rule that he will accept no young man for ordination unless he undertakes not to marry without the Bishop's consent, which "I would rarely give during the first three years of his ministry."

He considers that it is "unbecoming for a young clergyman to be hastening into matrimony while he is still in the elementary stages of his ministry."

Referring to the question of stipend, the Bishop said he thought a salary standardised at £200 or £210, and rising to £225 at the end of the first three years, was adequate. — Reuter.

ITALY'S BIRTH RATE DECLINES.

Population Increased By Emigration Ban.

NEW FIGURES ISSUED

Rome. Italy's birth rate, one of the highest in Europe, has shown a steady decrease in the last three years.

From 26.7 per thousand of population in 1930 it fell to 24.7 per thousand in 1931 and 23.6 in 1932. The death rate was 14.1, 14.7 and 14.5 respectively, according to newly-published figures.

Marrriages have also decreased from 303,214 in 1930 to 263,465 in 1932.

Despite the fall in the birth rate the population has shown a distinct increase owing to the virtual closing of the United States and other countries to Italian emigration. Only 83,309 Italians emigrated in 1932 as compared with 346,000 in 1930 and there were many repatriations. — Reuter.

FROM SHIP'S BOY TO K.C.

Remarkable Career of Mr. Lewis Noad.

TEN ADVENTUROUS YEARS'

London. The appointment as King's Counsel of Mr. Lewis Noad, who has for many years been a successful junior counsel in the Admiralty Court and a Lloyd's salvage arbitrator, marks a stage in a truly remarkable career.

Mr. Noad began life as a ship's apprentice in the Hugh Fortescue, a 480-ton sailing barge, which was battered and almost totally wrecked several times while rounding the Horn. At the end of his apprenticeship, it put into the Falkland Islands dismasted by enormous seas.

Later, he served in iron sailing ships, one of which was the old Benvenue from Glasgow. In this, after escaping an outbreak of smallpox which carried off half the crew, he was shipwrecked off Hythe, on the Kent coast.

He joined an Australian company as fourth officer and was on board the first steamship to visit Fort Wyndham, in north-west Australia, at the time of the gold rush.

About the beginning of the present century Mr. Noad had won his first mate's ticket when he fell in with a friendly King's Counsel, who helped him take up law and finally leave the sea after ten adventurous years in wooden and iron clippers. — Reuter.

BORDERERS SUSTAIN TWO SHIELD DEFEATS

Rawson and Sayer combined well, and, as a result, Rawson went through to give the Navy the lead after ten minutes play. The Navy continued to attack and Turner centred for Sayer to head wide. The Borderers, however, rallied, and Hamblin finished off a strong attack by weakly shooting past the post when in a good position. The Navy defenders successfully employed off-side tactics, and so relieved heavy pressure. Wallace, however, was prominent with good passes to Marshfield and after 25 minutes play one of these brought about the equaliser. Hamblin completely missed the ball and Morris was left with an easy chance with which he made no mistake.

With the Borderers inside forwards showing great understanding, all the play was round the Navy goal where Marshfield had a good shot saved by Longley. The interval arrived with the Navy resuming the attack after Smith had made two good saves.

Half-time: Navy 1 Borderers 1. Hazelwood made a good run on the wing and play travelled quickly from end to end. Rawson had a great shot deflected for a corner, and Longley saved well from Morris. Murrell went through, but Reece cleared the ball from his feet, and Smith turned a great shot from Taylor round the post.

A penalty awarded for hands was taken by Rawson, but Smith saved brilliantly, and a good passing movement by the Navy forwards was spoiled by off-side. Sayer was wide when given a good chance, and soon after another penalty was awarded the Navy for handling. Murrell made no mistake and the Borderers had just restarted play when the final whistle blew.

Borderers: — Smith; Suter and Reece; Court, Roberts, and Wallace; Marshfield, Hayes, Hamblin, Morris and Hazelwood.

Navy: — Longley; Blair and Powell; Turner, Henshaw and Ashman; Taylor, Brookes, Rawson, Murrell and Sayer.

Referee: — Mr. Baldwin.

FIRST DIVISION

Recreio Play Gallantly But Lose.

SANTOS OUTSTANDING PLAYER.

The Police took both points in their encounter with the Recreio at King's Park yesterday, winning by the flatter margin of 4 goals to 1.

The Police played bustling football, and enjoyed most of the play in the first half, but after the interval the Recreio improved amazingly, and the opposing goal was exceedingly lucky to remain intact on several occasions. The Police appeared a much improved side, and combined much better than in previous matches, with Channings holding the defence well together and the forwards making the most of their opportunities.

Santos was the outstanding player on the field, and, although playing on the left-wing, he kept all the Recreio forwards well supplied with passes. Bad luck robbed him of several chances of reducing the Police lead in the second half, and on one particular occasion Minty was fortunate to hold down his charge without letting the ball past. The Recreio defence and forwards played well, but the latter had their work cut out to avoid the Police defenders, who used their superior weight to advantage.

The Recreio were the first to open the scoring when Gonsalves sent in a bouncing shot which Minty misjudged. The Police responded well to this early setback and Lawrence was given a very warm five minutes. C. Pile eventually sending in the equaliser with a nice curling shot from the wing. Several minutes later, Channings put the Police ahead from a free-kick just outside the penalty area with a well-placed shot which had Lawrence well beaten.

In quick succession Johnson and Brittain tried Lawrence with hot shots, but without scoring. From the clearance Santos was sent away to flash across a nice centre which Perkins intercepted in the nick of time. Shepherd gave C. Pile an opening shortly after, and the winger made no mistake to give the Police their third goal. Moss added a fourth goal for the Police just before the interval sending in a first-liner after a mole in the goalmouth.

After the interval the Recreio were soon on the offensive, and Games experienced bad luck after a pretty movement with Santos. The standard of play improved, and several promising movements on the part of the Recreio forwards were frustrated in the nick of time by Blackburne and Perkins, who played excellently in defence. Delgado and Santos, however, went very close. Santos was once again unfortunate when he broke through from the centre-line for Minty to push his shot round the upright.

Police: — Minty; Perkins, Blackburne; Wheeler, Channings, Brittain; T. Pile, Johnson, Moss, Shepherd and C. Pile.

Recreio: — Lawrence; Silva-Matta, Marques, Guterres, Vignacredo, Macintosh; Castilho, Gomes, Delgado, Gonsalves, and Santos.

BALDRY'S FINE CENTRES.

A very poor exhibition of football was witnessed at Sookunpoo, where the Lincolns and Kowloon played a goalless draw.

In the opening stages, Kowloon had slightly the better of the play, but the positions were soon reversed, and Kowloon were forced on the defensive.

Baldry was well held by Staveley, but was very dangerous on the few occasions when he got away.

The Lincolns' forwards experienced great difficulty in controlling the light ball, and many nice centres from both Hocquard and Baldry were wasted. Ridley, in particular, being at fault. The Lincolns almost opened the scoring, however, when a corner kick, taken by Hocquard, was cleared to Baldry, who sent in a hard drive that just skimmed the bar.

A great shot by Baldry very soon afterwards was only just saved. Cook putting his foot to a fast ground shot and turning the ball round the post for a fruitless corner.

Crossing over with the score still blank, the Lincolns were soon pressing, Cook being called on to save shots from Ridley and Malpas, but none of them caused him much anxiety.

Kowloon were breaking away occasionally, but they never looked like scoring. Too much fancy play enabled the Lincolns defenders to fall back and clear.

Both centre halves played well, Bliss being always in the picture for his fine distribution of the ball.

The Lincolns were very unlucky not to score from a corner kick taken by Baldry. A perfect centre came over, and Malpas got his head to the ball, only to see it rebound from the crossbar. The ball was immediately returned goalwards, and it was some time before it was eventually cleared. Three consecutive corners were then conceded by Kowloon, and from each one Cook was called upon to save.

Both teams tried hard to score in the last few minutes, and heading went close with a good shot.

Lincolns: — Heath; Turner, Roden; Dudley, Cook, Bett; Baldry, Harding, Malpas, Ridley and Hocquard.
Kowloon: — Cook; Goulter, Walker; Tillery, Bliss, Staveley; White, Willis, Phillips, Webb and Bickford.

THIRD DIVISION.

VARSITY SURPRISE R.A.F.

The University had the better of their match with the R.A.F. at Happy Valley yesterday when they took both points by the odd goal in three.

Lee gave the University the lead in the first half, and Tait scored the equaliser for the R.A.F. Towards the end, however, Wong put the University ahead.

SOUTH CHINA WIN.

A goal scored by Tong Hing in the first few minutes decided the match between South China and Athletic at Caroline Hill, but the Athletic were flattered by the score.

South China enjoyed the majority of the play, and it was only poor finishing on the part of the forwards that kept the score down.

LINCOLNS RUNNER-UP.

The Lincolns collected two more points by beating the Engineers by 2 goals to 1 at Sookunpoo, and so qualified as runners-up for this Division.

In the first half Clarke and Sotter scored for the Lincolns, and Lester for the Engineers. Hollingsworth was the outstanding player on the field.

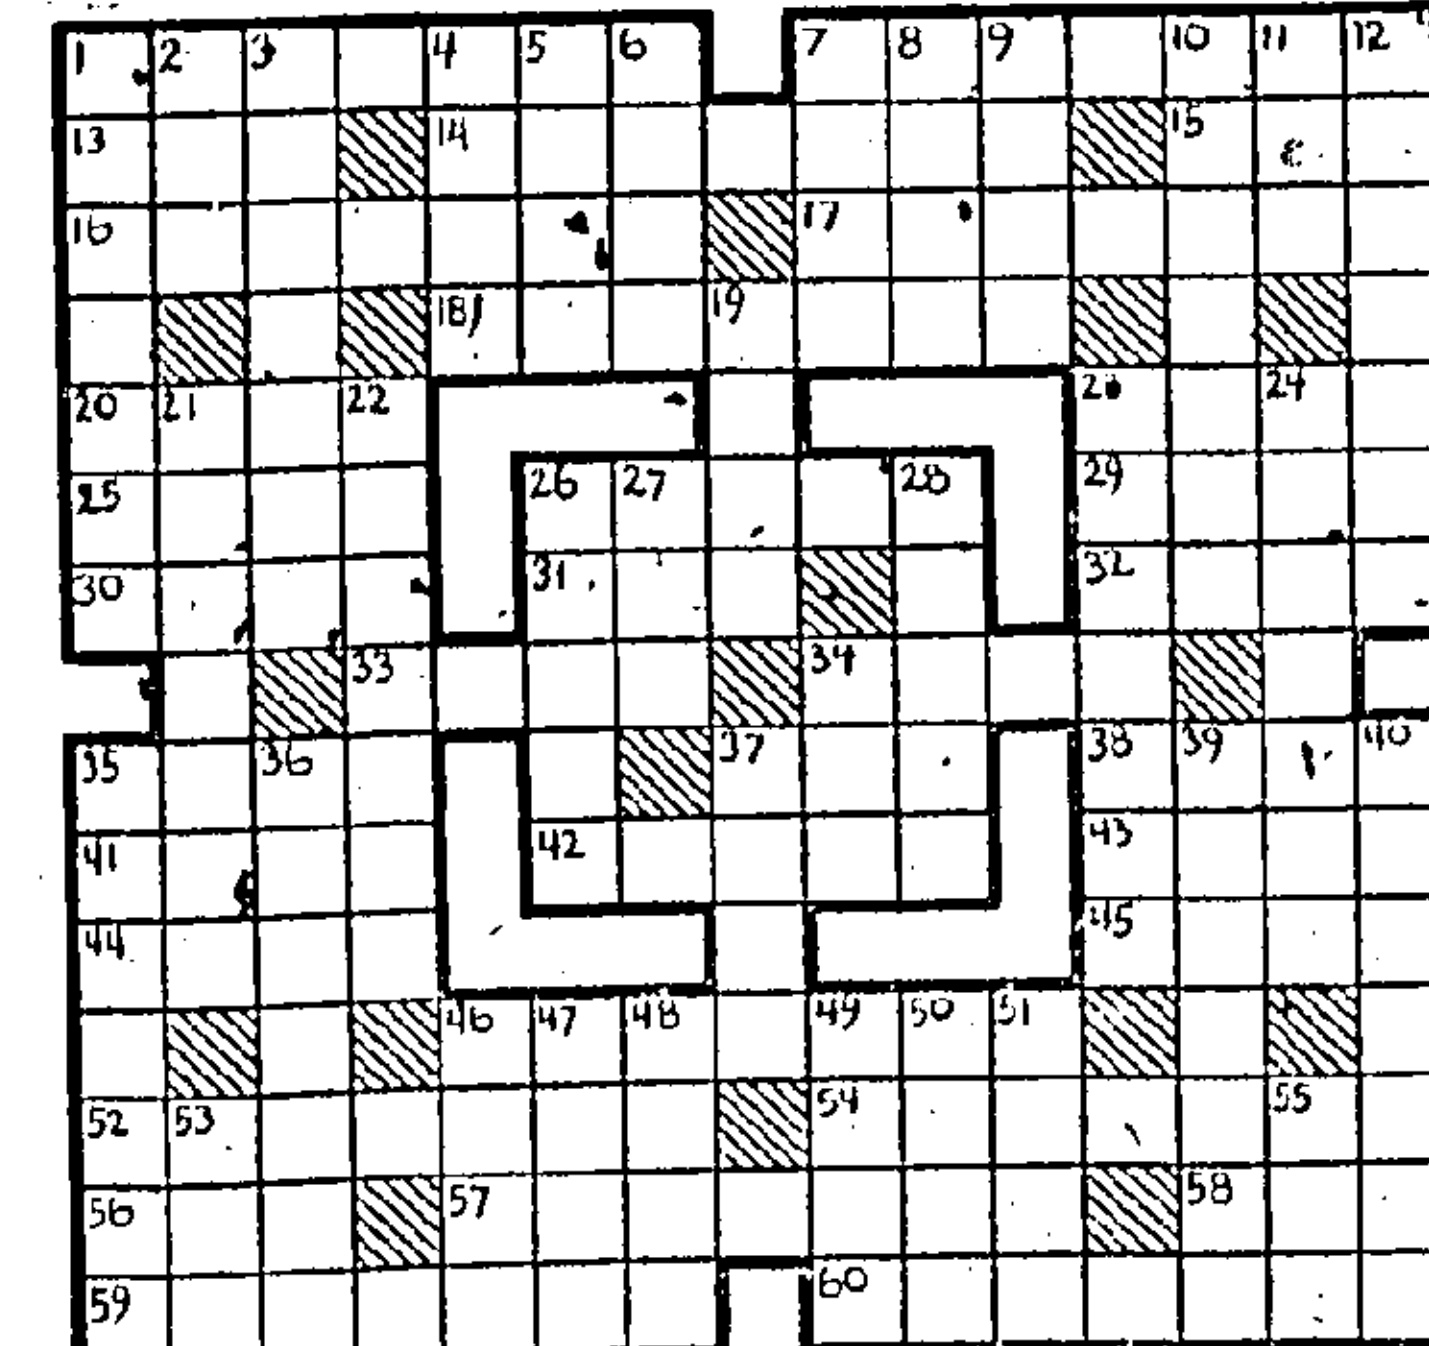

W. T. Tilden, America's leading lawn tennis player for a decade, has placed himself second in his ranking of the best professional players in the world. Premier position he awards to Martin Flax, of France, who beat him in the world's championship in Berlin last summer. He places the young German, Hans Nusslein, third.

MOTOR CAR DESIGN OF FUTURE

Rapid Advancement In Stream-Lining.

7 H.P. COACHES POSSIBLE

London. MOTOR-CAR design, as apart from engine improvement has changed but little in the past ten years. But to-day there is abroad a new spirit, inspiring the future type of coach work and already the cars of a year ago are beginning to look out of date and unconsciously ugly.

Stream-lined coachwork is coming fast. That fact was emphasised at the recent motor show in New York. Since then Berlin has taken another step along the road.

Stromlinienwagen, as the Germans call the stream-lined cars, were in evidence everywhere. There was a six-seater Maybach saloon body which had pride of place in the centre of the great hall.

The bonnet was shaped like the rounded end of a cigar; rear mud-wings were merged into the coachwork; all the lamps were enclosed by the front wings.

The design was obtained after experiments with a model in a wind tunnel. So effective is the design in reducing air resistance that the engine, a "twelve cylinder," can propel the car at 120 m.p.h.

Motor-car designers are only now just beginning to realise that what really matters is effective propulsion, not horse power. In other words it is clear that anything which reduces the absorption of power has the same effect as the development of power from the engine.

The T-square car with the perpendicular radiator and the perpendicular wind screen are already obsolete.

Research into the problems of wind resistance probably began with the Golden Arrow. Certainly they were continued with successive Blue Birds. Also airship designers have contributed to our knowledge.

But there is a lot still to be learned. Designers have begun to appreciate the benefits of reducing air resistance. So far they seem to have stayed their minds after teaching something about pushing away the wall of air through which we travel.

Consequently the newest fashions go for blunt noses and tapering tails. But instead of pushing against the air wall — why not cut it with a knife-like edge?

Design All Wrong. Anyway it is certain now that the orthodox design of cars is entirely wrong. Germany too is paying serious attention to front wheel drive. Hitherto English makers have merely toyed with the idea.

Front wheel drive will ultimately spell the disappearance of the present bonnet.

"No doubt you recall those auxiliary motor wheels for attaching to bicycles," wrote Laurence Cade recently. "Well, the ultimate car is going to be something like that. I do not mean that we shall attach an extra wheel, but that our power units will be so small and compact that their housing will occupy very little space."

"They will actually be auxiliaries. We shall buy cars and our engines will be in the nature of spares. They will be serviced. That is to say, in the unlikely event of breakdown, the motorist will merely have to unclip his engine and replace it with a spare one, just as to-day you unclip an accumulator from a wireless set and use a spare."

"It sounds rather ridiculous to talk about a seven-seater car with a seven horse-power engine, but that is very nearly possible to-day."

Logical Goal. "We shall have seven horse-power motor-coaches. Or, rather, we shall have engines of 750 c.c. propelling coaches. They will, of course, develop much more than the nominal seven horse-

NEW AMERICAN ROAD RULE.

Spooning Motorists To Go.

Cleveland, Ohio. Bad news for local highway Romeo.

The City Council Safety Committee has approved a traffic regulation providing:—"No operator of a motor vehicle shall have either arm around another person while the vehicle is in motion; nor shall another person have either arm around the operator."

Then it went a step farther and approved a regulation making it illegal for any person, adult or minor, to sit on the lap of any driver while the vehicle is in motion.—Reuter.

FIRST AID EQUIPMENT FOR MOTOR-COACHES.

Paris. All motor-coaches in France are in future to carry first aid equipment, according to a decree recently issued by the Prefect of Police. As from January 1, 1933, all public road vehicles are to be compulsorily fitted with safety glass. An annual inspection will take place with a view to enforcing the new regulations.—Reuter.

power, and the coaches will be streamlined.

"This is not a dream of the future, but the logical goal which, even now, we are approaching. Do you realise that motor taxation has gone down considerably? We still pay one pound per horse-power, but the power is measured in terms of capacity, not performance."

"The man with a ten-horse-power car is paying about half the tax which he would have been called upon to pay for a car of equal road performance at the inception of the flat tax. If it were not so; if we had not raised the power unit, motoring could never have made the enormous strides which it has made."

There is reason for saying that the next British Motor Show at Olympia visitors will see a number of cars a little startling in appearance. But they will be roomier and better looking. The day of the present type of square body is fast disappearing. Already these squarish cars — all straight lines, horizontal and perpendicular are beginning to look on the London streets more like old fashioned stage props.—Reuter.

1933 Motor-Cycle Show

Some Interesting Innovations.

An Olympia Motor Cycle Show in 1933 is officially announced, and the news will gladden the heart of every enthusiastic motor cyclist. Though not exactly a surprise (says "The Motor Cycle") the announcement is welcome, for a Show will be doubly acceptable after two years; already it is something to which to look forward.

For 1933 the scope of the exhibition has been broadened. Not only is it certain that motor cycle manufacturers will have a great deal to show the reunited motor cycling public, but it is proposed to display camping equipment and other such items that go hand in hand with motor cycling, while films will be shown and talks given. Moreover, there are likely to be other exhibits about at the moment than that they will specially appeal to young people—and, indeed, to all those enthusiasts who remain young at heart.

Another sensible decision is that the Show will be open on two Saturdays, as was the case in 1929; this will prove a boon to thousands who live too far away to make an evening visit possible.

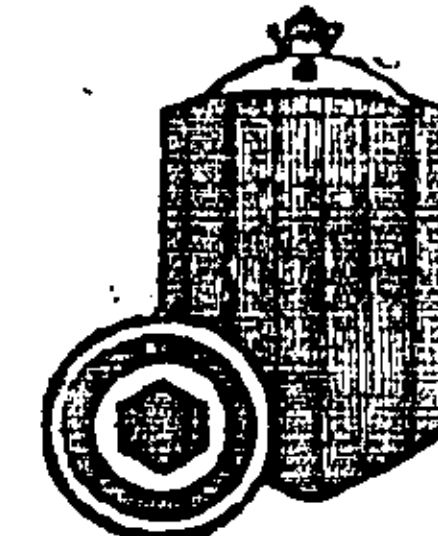

The new arrangements give the fullest scope for the enterprise of exhibitors, and if they take advantage of their opportunity the Show will set itself a new standard of fame, effectually recovering from any eclipse that it may have suffered due to this year's lapse.

ASK THE MAN WHO OWNS ONE

"STYLE," as applied to the Packard, has always meant something more.

Associated with it, logically and distinctively, is the other important word, "enduring" — a Packard characteristic for a third of a century.

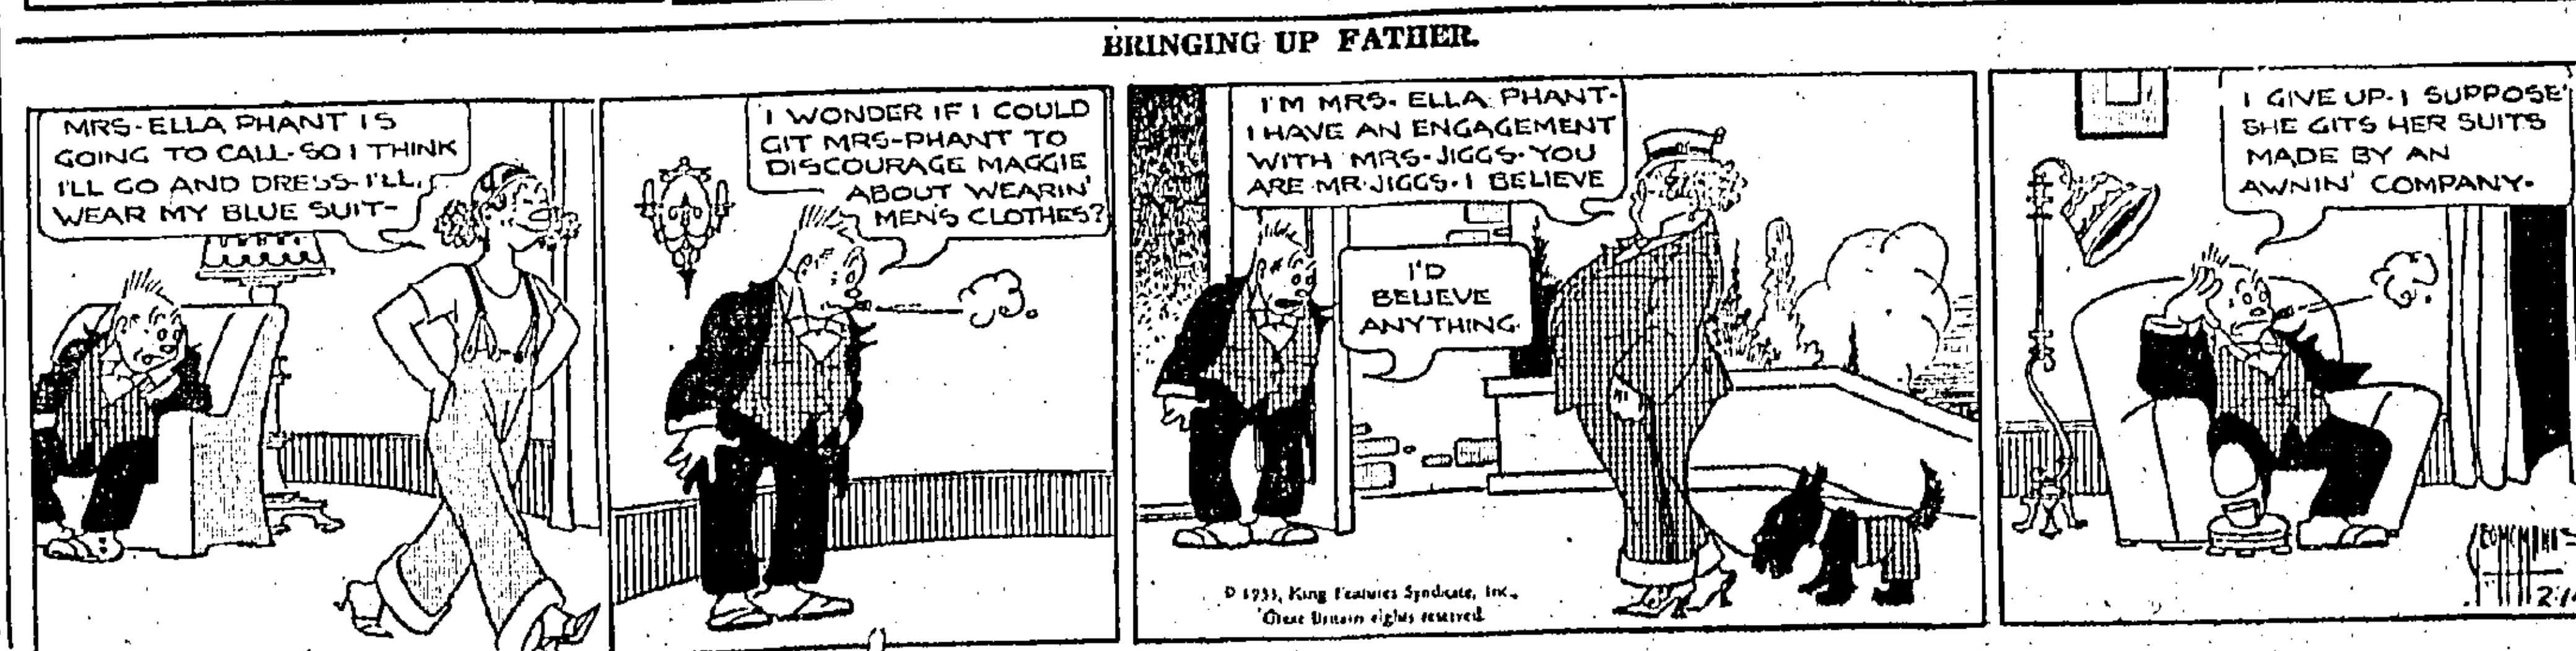

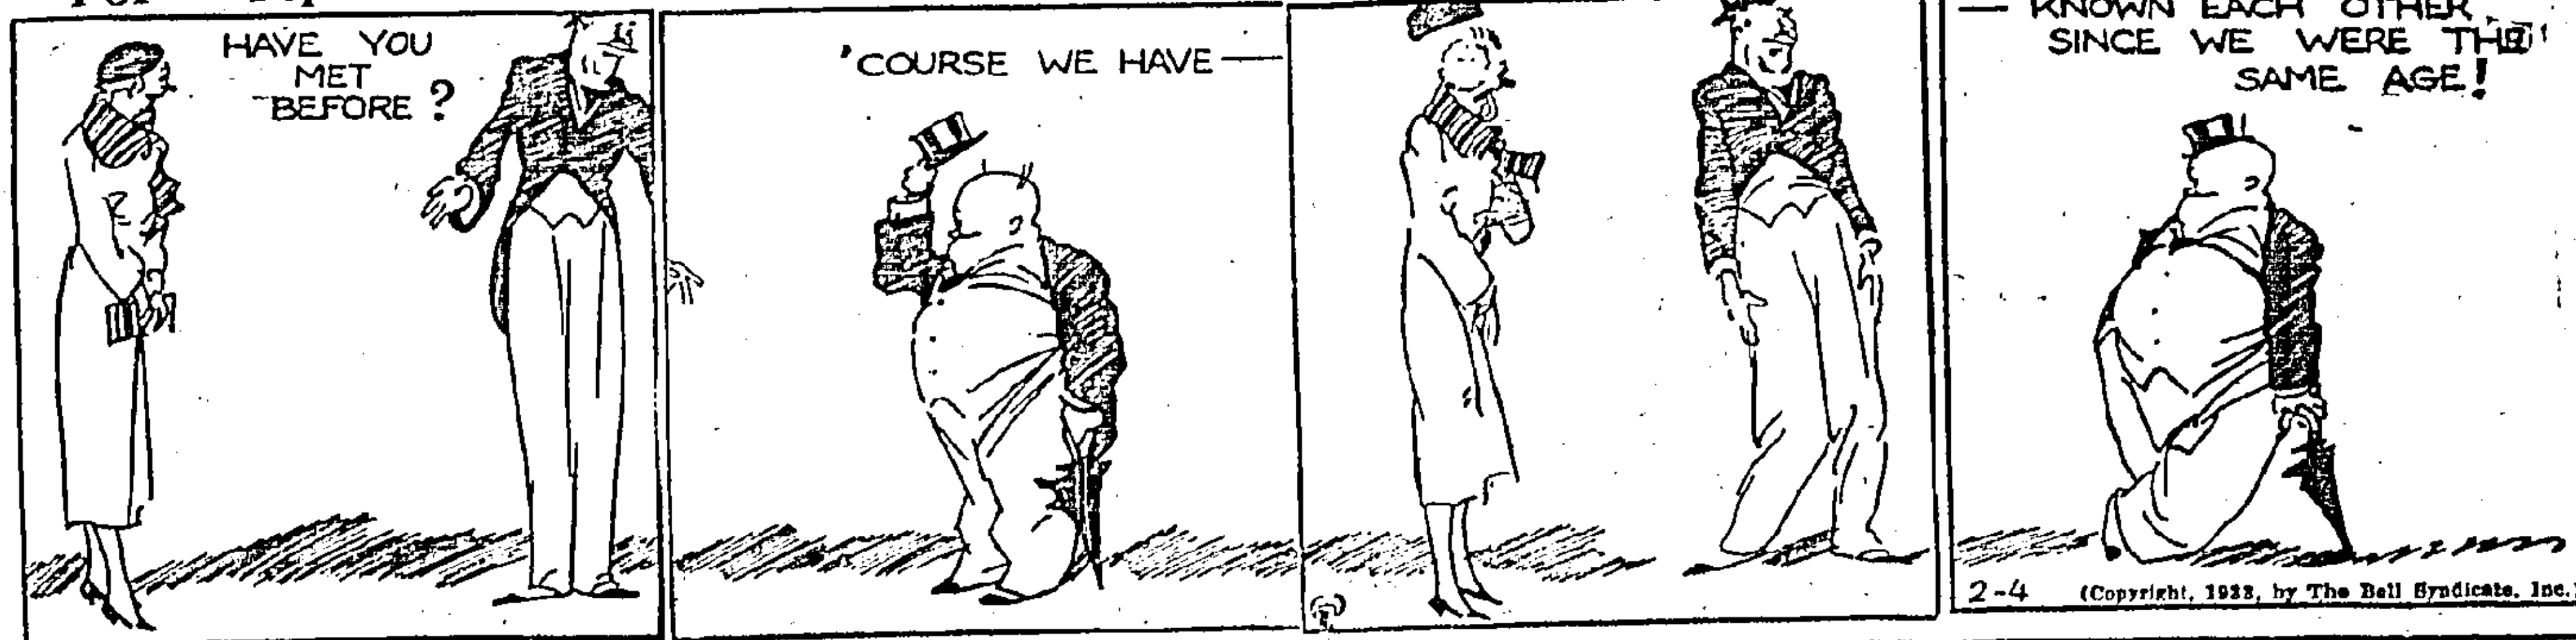

So gradually and correctly has Packard style evolved — like the slow unfolding of a beautiful flower — it has never been at the mercy of that capricious mood which too often alienates to-morrow's style from that of to-day.

BARRYMORE GENIUS
PUT TO HIGH TEST

A part that challenged John Barrymore's brilliant genius fell to his lot in "A Bill of Divorcement" now playing at the Central Theatre.

Critical praise that followed the advance release of the picture attests Barrymore's great triumph. "A Bill of Divorcement" as a stage play scored one of Broadway's most sensational hits and elevated to stardom each actor and actress who had a principal part. Noteworthy among these was Katharine Cornell.

Another actress gets equal opportunity in the current screen adaptation, for Katharine Hepburn plays in support of Barrymore in the same role that Miss Cornell had on the stage. Another supporting part of equal prominence is played by Billie Burke.

Barrymore's part in the film is that of a tragic figure of a man who returns from the obscurity of a long illness to find his family disintegrating; his wife loving and loved by another; his daughter a stranger, fearful of his presence and of the images caused by his reappearance.

Followers and admirers of the Barrymore career will find in "A Bill of Divorcement" his acting a masterpiece, critics agree.

KATHARINE HEPBURN IN SCREEN DEBUT.

Katharine Hepburn well known Broadway actress who recently scored in "The Warrior's Husband" makes her screen debut in "A Bill of Divorcement." George Cukor directed this Clemence Dane play which has Billie Burke cast in a feature role.

Miss Hepburn has also played in "Art and Mrs. Bottle," "The Big Pond" and in the pre-Broadway showing of "Death Takes a Holiday."

She is a graduate of Bryn Mawr. Four days out of college she became associated as a stock player with the Edwin Knopf Co. in Baltimore. Miss Hepburn studied dancing with Mikhail Mordkin.

Chancellor—But Still a Nazi

Although he has taken a big step in the world, Adolf Hitler, German Chancellor, apparently has not forgotten his Nazi comrades. The Chancellor is shown here as he greeted one of his young supporters during a recent rally of young Hitlerites in Berlin. Note that the Chancellor still wears the Nazi uniform with the swastika on the arm.

Will Silver Prices Be Raised?

BRITISH PRESS COMMENTS.

The reform in Chinese currency was commented on in the British press yesterday.

The authorities in London, according to the "Financial Times", are still sceptical about the change, while the "Daily Telegraph" remarks that the decree is hardly likely to have any noticeable effect of the market price of silver on which it must be based.

The paper refers to the speech of the Hon. Mr. J. J. Paterson, Chairman at the annual meeting of the Hong Kong and Shanghai Banking Corporation who, the "Daily Telegraph" says, has apparently no confidence in any measures which may be suggested for raising the price of silver.

The "Daily Telegraph" concludes by stating that when world conditions are restored to normal silver will recover, and this will stimulate a further revival in Far Eastern trade.—Reuter.

He set out from Madrid on March 18, and on March 25 he crossed India from Jodhpur to Calcutta in 8 1/2 hours. He flew from Calcutta to Rangoon in 6 hours through bad weather, and left that port on March 26 for Lakhon hoping to land in the Philippines on March 29.

However, the weather was unfavourable and he was forced to land at Phakeh, where he remained until the weather improved sufficiently to allow him to proceed.

May Fly Back To Spain.
Senor Loring will remain in Hong Kong until to-morrow, when he will take off on the last lap of his flight to Manila.

Though he has been handicapped by the weather, Senor Loring is making good progress, having taken only 21 days to fly from Madrid. Last year, he left Madrid on April 24 and arrived in Manila on July 11, taking nearly three months for the flight.

If all goes well Senor Loring intends to fly back to Spain.
